A Welching Bloc
Your Silver Dollar
Rules for Wives
Two Governments

—By Arthur Brisbane—

IT IS REPORTED seriously that England, France and Italy have united to "bar the payments of debts" to us. They are said to have arranged what might be called a "welching bloc," as though three bookmakers should agree not to pay what they owe, hoping to make the welching less unpleasant by making it co-operative.

This welching plan by European friends that came hat in hand, tears in eyes, begging for help in the war, may hurt them more than us. We can afford a ten billion dollar welching process if we must, whereas, on future occasions the welchers may discover that deliberately swindling a good lender, with plenty more that might be lent, is not profitable.

Also, there are several ways of killing a cat, and several ways of recovering a debt. Some day a forceful American government may reveal some methods of debt recovery to the "welching bloc."

Mr. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, issues the first $1 bills with his signature. Like other $1 bills, they raise an important question.

Take a one dollar bill and read on it in large type under a picture of George Washington, "ONE SILVER DOLLAR."

Nothing is said about gold, it's a SILVER dollar.

Yet that silver dollar with Uncle Sam's name on it is worth one hundred cents, whereas government GOLD BONDS sell below par.

A government bond is the government's promise to pay you the face value of the bond IN GOLD of the present standard of weight and fineness.

Your dollar bill is nothing but silver plus the country's name, and it is worth more than the bond.

To the average citizen who knows no more about finance than the average high financier, this indicates that Uncle Sam, if he chose, could finance his affairs without going to the bankers that he has created, saying, "Won't you please lend me a little money at high interest rates?"

In England, a gentleman was accused of enticing away another man's wife. The husband sued. The learned Justice McCardie decided against him, saying among other things:

"I must tell you that a woman's body does not belong to the husband. It is her own property. It is not his. A woman can leave her husband by her own free will. She may choose her own occupation. She may take her own political party. She may profess her own separate religious creed. She may decide whether she will bear children or not, and she may decide when each child shall be born. The married woman of this country has gained her freedom."

That sounds radical for an English justice.

Another learned British jurist, Sir Thomas Edward Scutton, reversed the opinion of Justice McCardie, who is a bachelor, saying:

"If there is to be a discussion of the proper relations of husband and wife, I think it had better come from judges who have more than a theoretical knowledge of such relations."

The opinion that a British wife owns and can control herself is startling, in England, where, until recently, there had been no change in the ruling that said a husband might beat his wife providing he used a stick no bigger around than his thumb.

Here in America we have what might be called a conservative government by high finance and big corporations. Nobody will deny that they represent the real power in the United States. About one out of six of our workers is idle. And we moan, naturally.

In New Zealand they have exactly the other kind of a government, "run for the people, by the workmen," a pretty good imitation of "proletarian" government, without the Soviet trimmings. And in New Zealand TWO OUT OF THREE WORKMEN ARE IDLE. The workers are rebelling against their government, and are in miserable condition. In a depression any kind of government may be the wrong kind.

Mr. Corbett, chief architect of the 1933 Chicago World's Fair, and one of the architects of the Rockefeller Center, says the country will soon be dotted with small houses sold ready made, like suits of clothes, for "Nomadic America." The condition may come so soon as to surprise Mr. Corbett, for production of such houses is now in excellent, competent hands.

An American family wants three things: A house to live in, a car to drive in, a garage for the car. Ninety-nine out of a hundred Americans would rather have a two-room house and a four, six, or an eight-cyl-

EL MANHOLES IMPERIL SCORES

Motorists and Firemen Narrowly Escape as the Heavy Covers Hurl Through Air

Four explosions, each 20 minutes apart, endangered the lives of a score of Brookline firemen and created a near panic among motorists and apartment house dwellers on Beacon, Powell and Carleton sts., Brookline, today.

The explosions were in manholes owned by the Boston Elevated. The blasts lifting heavy cast iron covers as high as 25 feet into the air.

CAR NARROWLY ESCAPES

The first explosion was at 10:15 o'clock in a manhole located between the inward and outward bound tracks of the Beacon st. Brookline street car line shortly after a Coolidge Corner car had passed the spot.

The explosion was followed by a burst of flame, and Patrolman Martin Norris, directing traffic at the corner of Carleton and Beacon sts., turned in an alarm of fire.

As the fire trucks approached the scene of the first blast, a second manhole cover was blown off, and members of Ladder Company No. 1 of Brookline narrowly missed being hit by the falling cover.

TRAFFIC HALTED

Calls were sent in for additional police and for emergency crews of the Elevated. All traffic was halted at Audubon rd. and at Coolidge Corner as a move to prevent possible injury among the curious who began rushing to the scene.

The third explosion was at the corner of Powell and Beacon sts. and the fourth at the corner of Carleton and Beacon.

Excited apartment dwellers who rushed into the streets after the blasts were assured that they were in no danger as long as they remained in their homes.

ACCUMULATED GAS

Both Elevated and fire officials were high in their praise of Patrolman Norris for his cool-headedness in handling the traffic and diverting it into side streets after the first explosion.

Officials said that the blast was caused by a burning cable that ignited gas that had accumulated in the manhole.

Grand Jury Told That Reports on Industrial Bank Deals Were "Pigeonholed"

Reports that complaints against stock brokers were "pigeonholed" in the State Department of Public Utilities, faced the Suffolk County grand jury today in its probe of the closed Industrial Bank & Trust Company.

For the third successive day, Bank Commissioner Guy again appeared before the jury and he was followed by Daniel L. Rose, prominent in Portuguese-American circles in Cambridge.

Rose's appearance recalled a series of complaints he made to the blue sky division of the commission soon after the closing of the Medford Trust Co.

His testimony before the grand jury was secret but, from investigators, it was learned that the transactions of Rose involved Edwin T. McKnight, who is president of the closed Medford bank as well as a holder of many shares in the Industrial, and already under probe in the latter.

When Rose complained to the State Department he charged that "high pressure" salesmen sold him Medford stock at $125 a share and later was "steered" to a downtown brokerage concern where the same stock was on sale at $65.

The brokerage concern employed the son of John C. Hull, who is director of the blue sky division that Rose charged "pigeonholed" his complaints.

President Hoover vs. Secretary Hoover

PRESIDENT HOOVER definitely opposes the bond issue for public works proposed by John N. Garner, Speaker of the Democratic House and by other members of the House of Representatives, and also proposed by Senators LaFollette and Brookhart and other members of the Republican Senate.

Mr. Hoover's opposition to a bond issue, to help give employment on public construction to the eight million American citizens now walking the streets in search of work, is important because of Mr. Hoover's high position.

Otherwise the opinion of a man who, ever since the depression started, has recommended everything wrong, prophesied everything wrong, and done everything wrong, would not be given the slightest consideration, either by Congress or the public.

* * *

IT is difficult, however, to understand how it is possible for any man who has the interests of his country at heart to oppose deliberately a plan of public works which would not only largely relieve the distress of the eight million unemployed and their families, but which would immediately cause liberal spending of wages at the stores, and so create orders from the factories, and so revive demands for raw materials from the farms and the mines, and so stimulate activity and provide jobs in all lines of business.

The use of the credit of the country, as it was used in war time to relieve existing cruel conditions, and to start business on its way back to recovery, is so natural and proper and obvious, that the Hearst papers refuse to believe that President Hoover himself is responsible for the letter opposing this use which was issued over his name.

* * *

THE Hearst papers believe that this document must have actually been inspired by Messrs. Morgan and Company or by some others of the Wall Street bankers, first, because it perfectly expresses the viewpoint of Wall Street on a national financial program, and second, because it is diametrically opposed to Mr. Hoover's ideas and opinions as formerly and authoritatively expressed.

The Wall Street bankers ardently and selfishly believe that the reconstruction corporation

SALES TAX BIG TOPIC OF TALK

Washington, May 26 (AP)—White House officials said today that President Hoover had been pledged support from 39 newspaper publishers who met with him last night for setting up reconstruction committees in all large cities along the lines of the banker-businessmen group created in New York under the chairmanship of Owen D. Young.

It was said at the White House the chief executive outlined to the publishers, who conferred with him for more than three hours, a complete program for setting up the committees.

During the parley, it was added, there was a full discussion of the sales tax including the possibility of using it as a possible lever for breaking the legislative jam of budget-balancing measures.

WALKER'S OIL DEAL BARED, SEES PLOT

Mayor Admits He Got $26,000 More in Pool; Says Move Is on to Oust Him

County Courthouse, New York, May 26—Mayor James J. Walker admitted on the witness stand before the Hofstadter legislative committee today that he had participated in the Cosden oil pool, a stock transaction, to the extent of $26,000.

Walker admitted yesterday he had drawn profits of $246,692 from a joint stock account which he shared with Paul Block, the publisher.

A moment previously, Walker, from the witness stand, threw the hearing room into a tumult when he charged that Samuel Seabury was conducting "an examination before trial," which was preliminary to asking the Governor to remove him as mayor of New York.

"Nobody is fooled by this examination," Walker shouted. "I thought this was an inquiry, but it looks as if somebody wants my life! Nobody doubts this is an examination before trial—a preliminary to asking the Governor to remove me from office."

CROWD IN UPROAR

The smartly attired mayor of the largest city in the country was aroused. He glared at Seabury as he angrily voiced the charge.

Applause swept the crowded court room.

Seabury's lips curled and he retorted:

"That's a stump speech."

Chairman Samuel Hofstadter pounded his gavel for order. He threatened to have the demonstrators put out of the room.

Mayor Walker had been calm enough the first hour on the stand this morning. But then Seabury's questions began to annoy him. Seabury had questioned Walker closely concerning his testimony of late yesterday when he brought out that the Mayor, without putting up any investment of his own, drew $246,692 as his share of the profits from a joint stock brokerage account he held with Paul Block, from 1927 to 1929.

Walker, explaining Block's "beneficence" today, said: "Mr. Block had manifested a very close and sincere friendship for me." Seabury sarcastically inquired if the mayor didn't think the "beneficence" a "trifle unusual." The mayor's reply was:

"I might say that it was most unusual for me to be the beneficiary of such beneficence."

From that subject, Seabury switched to other matters and it was when he was pounding away at the mayor's board of taxicab control when Walker voiced his indignation over the questions.

"Let me say that if Mayor Walker is removed from office he will be re-elected by the greatest plurality in the history of

SENATE ENDS TAX BATTLE IN BURST OF SPEED

REWRITES LEVY SCHEDULES IN REVENUE BILL

Follows Committee Plans in Program to Raise $59,000,000 Additional

Washington, May 26 (AP)—In a burst of speed that signalled the end of the tax controversy, the Senate today rewrote the entire excise tax schedule of the billion dollar revenue bill.

It placed new excise levies back into the measure so fast that it times no one knew just what was going on. The headlong action was taken on recommendation of the finance committee. Changes approved by the committee were estimated to yield $59,000,000 in revenue.

LEVIES MADE QUICKLY

Obviously tired of the tax contest and willing to accept the new compromise offered by the Finance committee which met early today, the Senate shouted in the new levies in rapid fire order.

Taxes on jewelry, cameras, firearms, matches, soft drinks, candy, boats, cosmetics and toilet preparations provided by the House measure were restored to the Senate bill along with other excise rates on automobiles and chewing gum previously agreed on in the Senate.

All this was done to lighten the burden from automobiles, resulting from refusal of the Senate to increase the rates on passenger cars and trucks.

The committee, in rewriting the schedules, proposed to make the exemption from the admissions tax apply on tickets of 30 cents and less. The compromise bill previously provided a tax on all tickets over ten cents.

Meanwhile there was considerable speculation at the Capitol on what attention was given the tax contest at last night's White House meeting between Presidentt Hoover and the publishers.

Responsible leaders said that Mr. Hoover had no intention of transmitting any message to the Senate, at least at this time.

SAES TAX GAINING.

Meanwhile, Representative Martin (R.), Massachusetts, told newspaper mei he had made a partial poll of the House Republicans and found 20 who voted against the sales tax would approve it.

The sales tax was defeated in the House 223 to 153, or by a majority of 70. It would require a change of 36 votes to pass it.

"I believe if the Senate adopts the sales tax the House will approve it now," Martin said. "Although I have not discussed it with Democratic opponents, I am informed that sentiment for the sales tax is growing on that side."

However, Representative Laguardia (R.), New York, who led the bi-partisan insurgents in their fight against the sales tax, said:

"We are just as strong now as before and we'll resist any attempt to foist the sales tax on the people."

If Uncle Sam should depart, the Japanese would come in, having good use for the Philippines, and the real estate purchases might not be profitable.

Astronomers at Heidelberg Observatory, near the old castle, discovered a new tiny planet, nearest thing of importance to the earth, except the moon. It is "only" 4,370,000 miles distant, at certain times, and will be useful, making it possible to measure distances in the universe more accurately.

At present, according to Dr. Frost, blind astronomer at Yerkes Observatory we do not know the exact distance between the earth and the sun within 50,000 miles. This tiny new planet will enable us to cut that uncertainty down to 10,000 miles.

Two Billion Relief Plan Is Winning Favor in Administration Circles

Washington, May 26 (AP)—Indications administration circles are looking with more favor on parts of the Garner $2,100,000,000 relief plan reached the House today as the speaker began checking over the legislative draft of his program.

The Texas Democrat probably will defer for a day the introduction of the measure in order to go over details with legislative drafting experts.

BILL UP TOMORROW.

Either Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee or Rep. Rainey of Illinois, the Democratic leader, will introduce the measure tomorrow.

Garner's proposal to increase from $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 the Reconstruction Corporation's capital for loans to states and political sub-divisions for productive projects is understood to have met the approval of Charles G. Dawes, president of the corporation.

The Texan advocates removal of restrictions on the corporation in order that it may use its own discretion in making loans.

REACTION AWAITED

Meanwhile, Garner is understood to be desirous of awaiting further reaction to his proposition. Hearings are to be held on the program by the Ways and Means Committee and probably will be concluded next week, with House action the week following.

Representative Thurston (R., Ia.), in a statement today, said when the Garner proposal to extend the powers of the corporation is reached in the House he "will offer an amendment to authorize this governmental agency to loan one-third of the interest which has matured."

Famous War Correspondent Is Tendered a Dinner by Leading Journalists

New York, May 26—Declaring the Hawaiian islands essential to America's national defense in the Pacific, Floyd Gibbons, famous war correspondent, strongly urged last night that the United States "run Hawaii not as a pineapple factory or a ukelele factory, but as a fort."

Floyd Gibbons

Gibbons spoke at a testimonial dinner given him at the Waldorf-Astoria by a group of prominent writers and lecturers. More than 200 leading figures in journalism and civic affairs and well known army and navy officials attended.

Speakers in addition to Gibbons were Admiral Henry A. Wiley, retired; Arthur "Bugs" Baer, columnist for Universal Service, and William Randolph Hearst, Jr. Claude G. Bowers was toastmaster and Major William Kennelly, president of the New York Athletic Club, was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Gibbons likened Hawaii's importance to the United States to the importance of Heligoland, a North Sea island, to Germany. English statesmen relinquished this stronghold to Germany in 1890, he asserted, and their sons were killed in Flanders 25 years later as a result.

FRIENDSHIP IS MURDER CLUE

Rockport, May 26—The slayer of Arthur F. Oker, Rockport tailor, was a man with whom he had made an appointment for a conference that was so important he locked the door of his establishment to prevent interruption.

That was opinion today of State Officer William J. Murray, who has been conducting an investigation into the murder that was considered the most brutal in Essex county since the slaying of Mrs. Clara Kimball Ellis in Haverhill by Russell Noble, a high school student.

So confident is Inspector Murray that the ma who killed Oker was known well to the tailor, that every person with whom he was friendly or engaged in business will be questioned.

Officer Murray returned to Rockport today after spending 24 hours in Boston checking on a mysterious clue received on the telephone yesterday.

Police learned today that Oker had signed for registered mail as late as 11:20 on Saturday, ten minutes before he is believed to have been slain. A search of the Oker store for this package failed to reveal trace of it.

The letter carrier who delivered the package said he saw two men in the store, but could not describe them.

President Hoover vs. Secretary Hoover should be the governmental agency to operate in the present financial stringency, and that this corporation should confine itself chiefly to financing the financiers, and relieving distress in Wall Street.

The bankers have no objection whatever to billions of dollars being raised by the government to benefit the banks, but they object strenuously to any money being raised by the government to benefit business generally or to relieve the pitiful distress of eight million unemployed.

The bankers say—"Let private charity take care of the unemployed," and President Hoover has echoed that calloused sentiment.

The bankers say that the first duty of government is to relieve the banks and the banks will then pass on the relief to business generally.

* * *

BUT hundreds of millions of dollars have been paid by the government into the banks and the banks have in no way relieved general business.

Liquidity has become an obsession on the part of the banks, and to remain liquid they have closed out debtors on every side and wrecked enterprises and ruined individuals merely to call loans and pile up bullion in their vaults, in order to be able to meet the very crisis which they themselves are precipitating.

The government should not pour any more money into the apparently bottomless sink holes of the Wall Street banks.

It has become evident to every thinking person not only that the banks do not care anything about the general welfare of the country but that they do not KNOW ANYTHING about the general welfare of the country.

The government should give up the futile policy of trying to restore the general prosperity of the country through the banks, and come to a sane realization that the only way the banks can be benefited is through restoring the general prosperity of the country.

Furthermore, there are other businesses to be relieved besides banks, and other individuals to be benefitted besides bankers.

* * *

IT is as if there were great public reservoirs of life giving waters upon a hill, and great areas of parched public fields stretched out at the base of the hill, and the waters which were allowed to run from the public reservoirs merely disappeared into private sink holes, and never reached the parched fields.

Surely some competent and patriotic engineer could be discovered who would find a legal way and a rightful way to lead the public waters from the hill directly down upon the parched fields, and so make the grass to grow and the flowers to bloom, and the fruits to flourish, and prosperity to come again on every man's land and in every man's home.

Surely one would think that a great engineer with all the power of the President of the United States would know how to do this saving deed and as a matter of fact this great engineer does know how to do it, and did, before this depression came upon us, affix the signature of his approval to a report which told clearly and convincingly how to do it.

* * *

IN 1923 Mr. Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, under President Harding, was chairman of a committee to investigate employment and public construction.

This committee went carefully and exhaustively into the subject, and finally made a logical and valuable report which Secretary Hoover, as chairman of the committee, endorsed unequivocally.

This report declared that in order to maintain employment at an equable level, public construction should be reduced in times of prosperity when employment was general, and EXPANDED IN TIMES OF DEPRESSION WHEN JOBS WERE SCARCE AND EMPLOYMENT DIFFICULT TO SECURE.

Following is a verbatim statement from the report:

"Holding back public works and private construction for periods of depression not only gives employment to large numbers of workers when it is most needed but creates a demand for raw materials for construction which in turn stimulates other industries to employment. It maintains the buying power of those directly or indirectly employed; it creates a market for goods, and it enables the workers directly or indirectly employed to buy the products of other industries."

Secretary Hoover personally said:

"No waste is greater than unemployment; no suffering is keener or more fraught with despair than that due to inability by those who wish to work to get jobs."

* * *

SURELY, then, it must be obvious to every intelligent American citizen that President Hoover could not have been responsible for the recent letter to the American Society of Civil Engineers in which he so vehemently opposed the bond issue necessary to carry out the very plans and purposes which, as Secretary of Commerce, he had previously so earnestly advocated.

Surely someone other than Herbert Hoover must have inspired the letter issued last Monday which so utterly fails to convey Herbert Hoover's previously declared ideas and objectives, and which so completely fails to express the ideas and objectives of the Congress of the United States; and which so thoroughly fails to express the ideas and purposes of the people of the United States; and which only expresses accurately and unerringly the narrow ideas and selfish purposes of Wall Street bankers, who so outrageously plucked and plundered the people of the United States during the speculative period of 1929, and who have done nothing, in spite of all the government gold which has been poured into their vaults, to relieve the national business prostration of 1932.

It is the Wall Street bankers who oppose the issue of bonds to relieve the unemployment they have so largely created.

* * *

IT is Mr. Morgan himself who speaks over the radio so sympathetically, urging those who have been impoverished by the depression to get together in block parties and HELP THEMSELVES.

And it is Mr. Morgan who cynically proceeds to help HIMSELF by taking twenty-three million dollars of government money from the government reconstruction corporation, with the direct aid, intervention and INSISTENCE of the incumbent administration at Washington.

Perhaps the Mellons and the Morgans and the big financial interests do nominate presidential candidates.

But when the candidate is elected by the people, and becomes the representative in public office of the whole people, his ideas and objectives would naturally, and must inevitably, become those of the people and not those of the Wall Street bankers.

It is for these reasons that the Hearst papers refuse to believe that the letter to the American Society of Civil Engineers, denying adequate aid to the unemployed, and refusing that stimulus to business, which such increase in purchasing power would create, was an actual expression of the genuine sentiment of the great engineer who once advocated that public works be expanded in periods of depression and retarded in periods of boom times, and who is now in a position, if sincere, to put these helpful theories into practice through his powerful influence as President of the United States.

TENNIS STAR DIVORCED BY WIFE OVER 'SNUBS'

No Love Set

Mrs. Annette H. Hill declares snubs and humiliations inflicted upon her by Malcolm T. Hill, captain of 1931 Harvard-Yale tennis team, spoiled her tour of Europe.

MRS. HILL SAYS HE RUINED HER TRIP ABROAD

Tells of Finding Gay Party at Home, With Harvard-Yale Athlete on the Floor

She may have been married to a star tennis player but her marriage was no love set, Mrs. Annette H. Hill of 1477 Beacon st., Brookline, testified today in probate court at Dedham in winning a divorce from Malcolm T. Hill of Brookline.

Hill, captain of the Harvard-Yale tennis team which toured Europe in 1931, was ordered to pay his wife $5000 alimony and she was given the right to resume her maiden name of Annette Hollis.

STAR "PASSED OUT"

The couple were married in Boston on June 11, 1930, and the marriage already was sagging badly by December 19, 1931, when she testified, she came home with friends from a hockey game and found her athletic husband not athletic at all, but "passed out" on the floor behind the piano.

Three of his collegiate boy friends and two girls were in the apartment, she said.

When Hill was awakened, according to Mrs. Hill, he angrily put on his coat and hat and left with the collegians and the girls, failing to return home that night at all.

TELLS OF SNUBS

The next day he told her that he had the girls at the apartment because he did not wish to be seen on the street with "girls of that reputation."

Various snubs and humiliations inflicted upon her by Hill during tennis tour in Europe in 1931 were testified to by the wife, and her testimony was corroborated by John R. Ross, Harvard student and member of the team, who declared that Hill's "ungentlemanly actions" toward his wife made things unpleasant also for the team members.

CAPONE IN NEW RETRIAL FIGHT

Washington, May 26 (AP)—Al Capone, the Chicago gangster now serving a sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary for evasion of federal income taxes, today asked the supreme court to reconsider its recent action refusing to review his case.

Michael J. Ahern, counsel for Capone, in asking the rehearing, asserted the government had admitted the indictment on which his client had been convicted was so drawn that Capone was not protected against a second prosecution for the same offense.

He declared the court must have overlooked this fact and insisted the indictment was so indefinite as to be fatally defective.

Ahern also argued the 10-year sentence was imposed for offenses which were shown by the government to have been barred by the statute of limitations.

A Massachusetts tax evasion case in which the indictment was set aside because it was not brought within three years from the date of the alleged evasion was cited.

OWNER OF BEER CLUB SOUGHT

Further investigation of ownership of the Bamboo Club in Boylston st., Back Bay, which was raided by dry agents yesterday, will be made before arraignment of two men arrested.

Michael J. McMahon, 28, of Carver st., and Benjamin Rodney of Williams st., Roxbury, face liquor charges before Commissioner Edwin Jenney tomorrow.

Agents say they found a barroom with decorated booths adjoining on the second floor of the building where men and women fraternized and sipped beer and liquors.

The booths and other decorations, including a mirror of pre-prohibition days with a sign "Rye $3" were seized with a quantity of liquor.

GARNER'S 'HAT' NOT IN RING

Washington, May 26 (AP)—Speaker Garner still has no intention of throwing his hat in the presidential ring and is on record as hoping for a Democratic national convention "harmonious in every respect."

In three brief letters to Joseph H. Leib of South Bend, Ind., all written since the Garner victory in the California primary Mr. Garner has repeated his previous declarations, but has added no further statement respecting his candidacy.

His last letter, on May 17, said:

"I have no intention of throwing my hat into the ring."

Followed then a reiteration that he is giving his entire time and thought to the duties of the speakership.

FAKE DISTRESS CALL PROBED

A thorough investigation of a series of fake SOS messages purported to have been sent out yesterday from the ship-to-shore mail plane catapulted from the steamship Europa was begun today by officials of the radio division, Department of Commerce.

Acting Supervisor Walter Butterworth, senior radio inspector in this district, declared a checkup of all radio stations, amateur and commercial, was under way to determine the source of the messages.

The investigation, Butterworth declared, includes even the two German fliers of the plane themselves—to leave no angle uncovered.

"We are going into every phase of the matter," said Butterworth. "It may be a long and exhaustive investigation."

The plane had headed for New York but strong head winds slowed her considerably and the pilot decided as he had a few weeks ago, to make for Boston.

MANIAC CUTS 3 GIRLS' THROATS

Cleveland, May 26 (AP)—A maniac cut the throats of three girls as they were on their way to school today, killing one and probably fatally injuring the other two.

The man, Jake Gordon, 40, was overpowered by a patrolman after a terrific struggle.

Scores of pedestrians and motorists saw the attacks.

The dead girl was Rose Marie Parker, 8. The injured are Lena DeSanil, 12, and Elaine Mackin, 8.

Young Burglar Shot Down in Battle Staged on Rooftop

Clad in a bathrobe, two blocks from his home, a Dorchester policeman wounded an escaping burglar early today after three youths were trapped on the roof of a drug store in Pleasant st., Dorchester.

The wounded youth was helped away by a pal, who escaped, but two other officers arrested Edward Shahill, 17, of Clarence st., Roxbury.

Patrolman Arthur E. Reeves of the Mattapan station was in his home in Thornley st., Dorchester, when shots fired by Patrolman Richard Clark and Motorcycle Officer Thomas Supple of Fields Corner attracted him. Reeves threw on a bathrobe and joined the other officers at the drug store.

OFFICERS CLIMB PIPE

He mounted guard at the front of the store while Clark and Supple climbed a drain pipe to reach the youths on the roof. The three were located after Clark found a disarranged window shade.

Clark was cut on the hands in the climb, but with Supple, found the youths behind a skylight.

Two of them ran to the front of the low roof and jumped to the sidewalk near Reeves.

PURSUES IN ROBE

Reeves gave chase but was hampered by the bathrobe. He fired three shots and saw one of the youths limp as the pair turned into the darkness of an alley and escaped.

Cigars, cigaretes, a rope ladder and a crowbar were found on the roof. One or more of the youths had been lowered through the skylight.

Shahill refused to give police the names of his companions. He was held for fingerprinting and further investigation.

TOLD CHUM SHE LOVED ANOTHER

Although she is suing Michael Mooka, Peabody realtor, for $25,000 breach of promise, Miss Anna Pangonis, Peabody bleachery worker, told a girl chum she loved another man and could not understand "what I ever saw in Mike."

This was testified today at the trial in Salem Superior Court by Mrs. Mary Komiski, who said she worked several years with Anna in the bleachery.

When Anna learned that Mooka had married, Mrs. Komiski said, she showed no sign of a broken heart, but came into the bleachery last December wearing a diamond ring.

Mrs. Mary Genkins, a Lynn stenographer, testified that her uncle, John Clavis of Philadelphia, took her and Anna to New York on a picnic and then to his home, and that Anna asked Mary to "keep it quiet" because it would hurt Anna's case against Mooka if the story got out.

"Anna told me that she loved John," the witness testified.

When John got into an accident and became paralyzed, Anna knelt by his bedside and said she would marry him even if he lived only two days—she loved him so, the witness said.

Clavis, according to the witness, died last August and Anna went into mourning garb for him.

SALUTES GREET FRENCH SHIP

Booming guns of the army and navy greeted the French warship Ville d'Ys in Boston harbor today on her arrival for a six-day visit.

The national salute of 21 guns was fired by a special army squad sent to Ft. Strong for the occasion. The warship crew fired an equal number on entrance into the harbor.

Off the navy yard, Charlestown, the ship saluted Rear Admiral Louis M. Nulton with 13 guns and the U. S. S. Southery fired the answering salute of seven.

Commander R. M. Gibelin and Executive Officer H. P. Tortat left the visiting ship soon after it docked at Pier 4, and paid a courtesy call on Admiral Nulton in the latter's quarters.

The visit was returned aboard ship by Admiral Nulton. J. C. Joseph Flammand, French consul, was another visitor.

Shore leave will be granted the 103 officers and men aboard the French ship at various times between now and her departure Tuesday.

Visits to Gov. Ely, Mayor Curley and others are in store for Commander Gibelin and Lieut. Tortat.

MAYOR UNABLE TO PREDICT TAX RATE

Urges a Favorable Report on Two Subway Extensions and Hits Real Estate Exchange

Every city in the state will be "sunk" unless the Legislature comes to their relief, Mayor Curley today warned the legislative committee on metropolitan affairs.

The mayor made this prediction after he informed the committee he could not tell what the [illegible] tax rate will be until the Legislature adjourned.

As a part of the relief program he urged a favorable report on the bill of the Metropolitan District Council for two subway extensions, one running out Huntington ave. and the other to Davis sq. Somerville, at a cost of $40,000,000.

WORK FOR 7000

The two projects, he figured, would give work to some 6000 or 7000 heads of families for three or four years, materially decrease the drain on the city's resources in soldier's relief and public welfare aid and at the same time provide permanent improvements.

The Huntington ave. project, he said, would make possible the removal of the tracks from that street and give a broad thoroughfare to connect with the new Worcester turnpike at Brookline Village.

SCORES EXCHANGE

If the city was to construct a boulevard to take the Worcester traffic into the city, he said, it would cost in the neighborhood of $18,000,000.

The mayor bitterly scored the Boston Real Estate Exchange and the Massachusetts Tax Association. He said these two organizations blocked bills which he had before the Legislature to reduce the tax rate by 52 cents. He declared he had put every economy into effect that he could outside cutting the city salaries.

He blamed such men as Alexander Whiteside for the losing of immense sums by the city in abatements. Reading out another name, that of Frank D. Comerford, president of the New England Power Company, the Mayor remarked that that company has "capitalized everything from the birds that fly in the air to the pine cones that fall in their property."

Taking a fling at the "gamblers in State and Wall streets," the mayor said that "they never sat in to a game with honest dice in their lives."

The mayor praised the $5,000,000,000 prosperity loan program sponsored by William Randolph Hearst, which he said had been endorsed by more than 50 leading economists in the country.

"They were unanimously in favor of that program for public works as the only way to end the industrial depression," he said.

FURS FOR SALE! EVEN AT 91

Today being nice and warm, it came out that a Boston bank is selling furs, which is a record of some sort or another—even if only for banks.

Some weeks ago when John B. Cunningham took over receivership of the Boston-Continental National Bank he found among the assets 35 fox, marten and other fur neckpieces of excellent quality which had been pledged as collateral for a loan ultimately discovered to be uncollectable.

In an effort to dispose of the furs quickly he put them up at auction, but the highest bid was only $200, a sum far less than the amount of the loan. Withdrawing them from auction, Receiver Cunningham then placed them on display in the lobby of the bank and marked them for sale individually.

Today he had but eight of the fur pieces left, and when these are disposed of practically 100 per cent of the loan will be realized.

NOTHING SAD ABOUT A SEA WAVE ON A DAY LIKE THIS!

Some love-lorn swain asked a long time ago, "What are the sad sea waves saying?" The answer was found when the sad waves applauded in glee as this sight met them on the sands at Long Beach, Cal., as these beauties, a party of dancers taught by Miss Lillian Newman, did an outdoor rehearsal in preparation for a seaside pageant. On days such as this, sights as beautiful as this are common on all the beaches round Boston, as thousands know. (International News Photos.)

WALKER ADMITS $26,000 OIL POOL PROFITS, AND CHARGES PLOT TO OUST HIM

ADVERSARIES MEET
Mayor James J. Walker of New York faces Samuel Seabury from the witness stand for the opening of their duel, the result of which may have an important bearing on national politics.

REFRESHES MEMORY
Mayor Walker consults notes to answer questions put to him by Seabury. He admitted a stock trading account had paid him $216,692 between February 10, 1927, and August 5, 1929.

SPURNS AID
"Listen, can we go on. I got the money and I was glad to get it." This was Mayor Walker's attitude when Democratic members of the committee attempted to save him from questioning.

SHOOTING ONE BACK
The mayor was caught in this pose as he shot back an answer to one of the Seabury questions. It was generally conceded that "Jimmy" carried off the honors in the first day's encounter. His jibes aroused the crowd. (International News photos.)

CROWD CHEERS AGAIN AS HE DEFIES FOE

Mayor Refuses to Tell Why Block Gave Him a Profit of $246,000 in Stock

New York," interjected Senator John J. Dunnigan, a minority member of the committee.

Shouts of enthusiasm greeted this declaration.

TRAILS "SISTO GIFT"

Mayor Walker's indignation was provoked when, as he started making an explanation of the reasons which motivated him in passing taxicab control legislation, Seabury tried to shut him off.

But the mayor wouldn't be stopped. He said he swore in members of the taxicab control board at his hotel in Park ave. the day of the last St. Patrick's Day parade.

Seabury wanted to know if State Senator John A. Hastings, "political contact man" and close friend of the mayor, was present. When Walker said he could not recall Seabury wasn't interested in the mayor's explanation of the meeting.

"I know you're not interested in the St. Patrick's Day parade," Walker wise-cracked.

The spectators roared.

Walker testified to meeting J. A. Sisto, broker interested in a taxicab company, in Atlantic City, N. J., at a dinner. Seabury alleges Sisto's company wanted stricter municipal taxicab regulation. Sisto has testified to giving Mayor Walker $26,535 in bonds.

When Seabury endeavored to pry more information out of Walker regarding his Atlantic City meeting with Sisto, the mayor declared:

"Hundreds of people meet and shake hands with me."

Walker denied having an account with J. A. Sisto & Co. under his own name, or indirectly.

"Do you remember Sisto calling on you to tell you his views on taxicab control in New York?" asked Seabury.

"I don't recall any such meeting."

"I GOT $26,000"

Walker, under further questioning by Seabury, then admitted he participated in the Cosden oil pool—a stock proposition—to the extent of $26,000. He said there was no written commitment that he would bear his share of loss—if any.

"Oh, you got the $26,000?" drawled Seabury.

"I did and you know I got it," replied the mayor.

Walker denied he ever had asked to be "declared in" on the Cosden proposition.

"And," he added, "I don't like that expression."

The mayor denied he had ever said he could not go into the pool even if the stock was "selling for a nickel."

In response to a question from a member of the committee, Walker said that had there been a loss he would have made good his share.

Walker declared the arrangement for his participation in the Cosden pool was not made by Sisto at all. He gave this explanation:

"After the banquet at Atlantic City the subject of the Cosden pool was brought up. I don't know who brought it up, but it wasn't Mr. Sisto. It was said then that I could participate in the pool if I cared to, and it would not cost me any money because the stock had gone up 10 or 15 points from the price at which the participants in the pool had bought it. I said I would participate. That is the story."

WIFE HAS $26,535

Walker related that, subsequent to the pool arrangement, he saw John J. McKeon and that McKeon told him there had been a profit in the pool. Walker said those were the only two conversations he ever had with reference to the pool.

The mayor testified he received the Sisto bonds, worth $26,535, while he was dressing, and that he handed the envelope to Mr. Collins, his secretary. Later he gave the bonds to Mrs. Walker.

"And she still has them," he asserted.

The envelope containing the bonds were given to Collins by McKeon, he said. Collins kept the bonds overnight.

Mayor Walker said the day after he received the Sisto bonds he placed them in the safe. Then he informed Mrs. Walker what he had done. He said Mrs. Walker had "a small bank account of her own."

"You deposited some of the coupons, didn't you?" asked Seabury.

"They were deposited. I never personally deposited the coupons."

The coupons were deposited to the mayor's account in the Federation Bank & Trust Company.

MENTIONS SHERWOOD

Walker didn't know who deposited the coupons.

"Somebody in my law office, probably," he said. "It might have been Mr. Sherwood.

He meant Russell T. Sherwood, missing witness whom Seabury charges was Walker's private "financial agent."

The minority members of the committee started interjecting objections and a long wrangle ensued. Senator John J. McNaboe demanded to know "the purpose of this line of questioning." He suggested there was an "ulterior motive."

GUARD AGAINST REDS

On a tip that some Communists planned a demonstration during today's session, four members of the police radical squad were stationed in the rotunda.

The courtroom was jammed and several thousand persons were massed in the square just below Tombs Prison on which the courthouse fronts.

As Mayor Walker took the stand Chairman Hofstadter said:

"I'm going to note for the record that you're ahead of time."

The crowd cheered again.

Chairman Hofstadter stood and pounded the bench with his gavel.

TESTIMONY STAYS IN

"We'll have order here today," he declared. "I want to warn you now that if there are demonstrations I will clear the room. You have had your demonstration for the day."

Turning to the mayor, Hofstadter said:

"When you are ready, Mr. Mayor."

The mayor was ready right then. And he faced the silver-haired Seabury, who now stood directly in front of him, only a few feet away.

Mayor Walker was immaculately attired. His gray shirt and collar set off his light blue suit. As he waited for Seabury to resume his questioning the mayor glanced at the battery of newspapermen in the jury box next to the witness chair and at tables nearby and smiled. He seemed calm, relaxed.

Among the spectators today was J. Allan Smith, bus company agent, who bought a $10,000 letter for the mayor in 1927. Mayor Walker testified yesterday that he never heard of Smith and that the letter of credit was paid for by himself and members of the party.

Another present was John J. McKeon, who, according to testimony by earlier witnesses, delivered $26,000 in bonds to the mayor from J. A. Sisto, a banker.

Before the examination began, Assemblyman Louis Cuvillier, a minority member of the committee, made a long statement in which he demanded that all testimony of the mayor that referred to his "private affairs" be stricken from the record.

Chairman Hofstadter promptly overruled Cuvillier's motion.

Walker, meanwhile, took a blue handkerchief from his breast pocket and wiped perspiration from his face. It was warm in the crowded room. He glanced around with interest.

Cuvillier cited several authorities to support his motion and insisted on reading his statement even though Hofstadter had already overruled his motion.

"ASK MR. BLOCK"

Seabury and the mayor smiled broadly at each other as Cuvillier continued to object to placing the mayor's testimony in the record.

Seabury went back to the Block joint brokerage account, from which the mayor testified yesterday he received more than $246,000 in less than two years without making any investment.

"What do you think, Mr. Mayor," Seabury asked, "was the reason for Mr. Block establishing the account?"

"I'd prefer you ask Mr. Block," Walker replied.

He then launched into a eulogy of Block and his generosity, private and public.

Walker, prodded a bit further by Seabury along this line, declared:

"Mr. Block has manifested a very close and sincere friendship for me."

GLARES AT FOE

A tinge of sarcasm crept into Seabury's voice as he asked:

"Don't you think perhaps that this 'beneficence' was a trifle unusual?"

The mayor glared at Seabury for a second, then answered with a smile:

"I might say that it was most unusual for me to be the beneficiary of such beneficence."

"You don't mean to say it wasn't unusual?" pursued Seabury.

"I wouldn't say so," retorted Walker.

Seabury wanted to know if Walker received other gifts or beneficence from other persons. The mayor said he couldn't recall any.

"I have an opinion about the way Mr. Block manifested his unusual friendship," Mayor Walker manifested. "He is a modest man and did not want to get public approval of any of his beneficial acts. I asume that I am to make some answer. I have done so."

"Have you been the beneficiary of any other funds or accounts since you've been mayor?" Seabury asked.

"I've had countless kindnesses," Walker replied.

As Seabury pressed him for a more direct answer, he added:

"Not that I remember."

Seabury next asked Walker if he ever was asked on the telephone by Park Commissioner Walter R. Herrick "if he still had his Interstate Trust stock" and if he replied to Herrick, "No. I put it up for collateral, and it's all gone."

TOLD OF STOCK

An argument developed between Senator John J. McNaboe, Democratic minority member of the committee, and Chairman Hofstadter over the propriety of the question. McNaboe objected to Walker answering.

The question was read to Walker again.

"I have said," Walker said, "that Mr. Herrick never telephoned me on that subject."

Q.—Do you recall telling Herrick you put it up for a loan? A.—I don't remember his every talking to me on the phone on this subject.

Q.—You mean you're not sure you didn't discuss this subject on the telephone with Herrick? A.—Neither on the phone nor in person did I ever say I had the stock or didn't have it, the only conversation I ever had with him about the stock was when I told him the stock was put aside and he could buy it if he wanted to.

DENIES GRAFT DEALS

Seabury handed a document to the Mayor and asked him if, in response to a subpoena, he had produced "any other records" for the committee.

"Most of the records asked for never existed," Walker replied. "There are no records of any financial transactions with Fageol, J. Allen Smith, Sisto or O'Neill, because I never had any financial transactions with them."

Seabury indicated he had been unable to find the mayor's brother Dr. William J. Walker.

He asked the mayor where he was.

"I don't know," Walker said.

"I haven't seen him for five or six months."

"We were in touch with him two weeks ago and he said he would get in touch with us, but didn't," Seabury said.

"I'll be very glad to get in touch with him and have him communicate with you," Walker said.

"Thank you," Seabury said.

Walker said he had $10,000 "evidence of additional generosity" in a bank that was absorbed by the Bank of Manhattan.

He said it was profit on an investment made on his behalf by Esmond O'Brien.

NOT IN BUSINESS

Questioned by Seabury about his business transaction since he became mayor in 1926, Walker replied:

"There are no records, I had no business."

Of the men with whom Walker said he had had no financial transactions, the men besides Smith and Sisto, not fully identified by him were Frank R. Fageol and William O'Neill, both backers of the Equitable Bus Co., which sought a franchise here which Walker signed the day before Smith, an Equitable agent, bought the letter of credit.

Walker said he did not remember what the stock was O'Brien had bought for him that gave him the $10,000 profit.

Whatever records there are of his financial transactions, Walker said, are check stubs in his law office. He promised to send for them.

Seabury then asked him if he introduced to the Board of Aldermen in January, 1932, a bill regulating taxicab control. Walker said he did.

"My design," he said, "was to draft a bill that would follow the report of the taxicab control commission that had held several public hearings on the subject."

SEABURY HURLS LIE

Walker said he wished to call to the attention of the committee the fact that his motive might be questioned.

"I recognize," Walker said, "the antagonistic attitude of Mr. Seabury. I'm here as a witness, but it begins to look as though somebody were after my life.

"It is apparent to me that this is just an examination before trial—that it is preliminary to preferring charges with the governor asking for my removal."

He challenged Seabury to meet him "on some other ground and discuss this subject."

Seabury angrily charged him with making 'a cheap political stump speech."

Assemblyman Irving Steingut charged the committee had spent "all but $87,000 or $750,000 appropriated to the committee" and that by the end of this month the committee would have spent it all.

"All of this money has been spent by counsel," Steingut shouted, "to remove this man from office and he can't do it!"

"That statement is unqualifiedly false and the Assemblyman knew it was when he made it!" Seabury said.

McNaboe charged Seabury had "paid applauders" in the courtroom.

Walker was asked if he ever discussed the taxicab situation with Morris Markham.

"I might have," he said. "At

REPORT CURTIS INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Flemington, N. J., May 26 (AP)—The Hunterdon County grand jury today completed its examination of witnesses and evidence in the gigantic hoax perpetrated in the Lindbergh kidnap case by John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk, Va., boat builder.

CURTIS IN CELL

While Curtis sat in his cell in the county jail adjoining the courthouse, the grand jury heard three witnesses—police officials who have been active in the kidnaping investigation tell of the confessed hoaxer's story of his "negotiations" with the kidnapers and the effect they had on the search for the actual kidnaper-murderers of the Lindbergh baby.

REPORT UNOFFICIAL

The grand jury completed its work at 12:30 p. m. Although there were unofficial reports an indictment had been voted, officials declined to discuss anything that transpired. Before the session Prosecutor Hauck repeated that an indictment, if any were voted, would not be handed up until Saturday morning.

'JAFSIE' CHECKS MYSTERY TIP

Becket, May 26 (INS)—While Dr. John F. Condon, "Jafsie" in the Lindbergh mystery, from a camp in the woods here was checking information sent him by a former student, he took time off to reveal to reporters that "John," the mysterious Scandinavian who received the $50,000 ransom, had three distinguishing marks on his face.

The marks, he added, were not a tattooed maple leaf, as stated in New York recently. "Jafsie" would not comment on the marks because, he said he had given full information to the grand jury in New York.

The message from a former student came by telegraph and was described as "important" and checked with information gathered earlier in the case but held at that time to be of little value.

Lamont Goes Under Knife for Tonsilitis

Washington, May 26 (AP)—Secretary Lamont was operated on for tonsilitis today at Garfield Hospital. His condition was described as satisfactory.

SAYS NOTE-WRITER NOT KIDNAPER

Who wrote the ransom letters to Jafsie? Louise Rice, graphologist, has analyzed the handwriting of the notes which led Dr. John F. Condon to pay out $50,000 of Col. Lindbergh's money in a vain effort to obtain the return of his kidnaped son. Miss Rice has analyzed more than a million specimens of handwriting in the last 25 years. She has been consulted in crime mysteries by police departments throughout the world.

By LOUISE RICE

Copyright, 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.

New York, May 26—The writer of the ransom notes to Dr. John F. "Jefsie" Condon was not the kidnaper of tht Lindbergh baby.

After examining this handwriting I doubt that this is the master mind which could plan this tremendous crime.

Let us see what the handwriting can tell us.

First of all, let us look at the pressure in writing these notes, as it will tell us something of the temperament of the writer. The note marked No. 1 is rather spotty-looking, light in some places and dark in others. Note No. 2 is more carefully written and with a consistently darker appearance except for some of the upper loops, which are light and rather "shaky" looking.

EFFORT TO CHANGE WRITING

Note No. 1 is much more apt to be in the natural handwriting than No. 2. The rhythm is much smoother and more flowing and the letters more carelessly formed. Note No. 2 has a slower tempo, a more even pressure and several of the letters have been written over in places. For instance, look at the words "are on" in the third line, "Gayhead" in next to the last line and many others.

It is easy to see an effort has been made to change the natural writing and close up the letter formations, although the "o's" are open at the top in both notes. There is also a distinct foreign influence in some of the letter formations.

These uneven pressures, the widely open letters and the rightward angle of the writing in No. 1 shows us a person who is apt to be ruled by emotions rather than common sense; one who could be easily influenced by a stronger and more aggressive personality. Most of the lines run slightly down hill, showing a tendency to worry or depression.

INDICATES "WHINER"

Taking all these characteristics which I have mentioned, you can form a picture of a person who is probably some what of a "whiner" and inclined to feel that the world owes him a living whether he works for it or not. These conclusions are verified by the narrow capital "I" which indicates a lack of confidence and some sensitiveness which could not easily withstand disappointment.

We cannot tell whether a man or woman wrote these notes, as sex is purely a physical quality and has nothing to do with them ind, or spirit, and therefore does not show definitely in the handwriting.

I want you to notice that all the letters "t" are uncrossed with the exception of the "t" in the word "innosent," which is crosed with hardly noticeable tiny tick.

TIMID BUT RUTHLESS

This shows me that this man is not stupid, for it is a very difficult thing for anyone consistently to leave all the "t's" uncrossed as you can easily find out by trying to do it yourself. With all his care his hand slipped in that one place and tried to cross the "t" but he caught himself before completing the crossing.

He also misspelled some of the simpler words such as "boad" and "soud" but has spelled some of the longer, more difficult words correctly, and has punctuated his writing with commas—a thing no ignorant person would do.

What kind of a person should we look for if we were trying to find the writer of these notes, and one who either has a grudge against wealth, or else is slightly demented or takes drugs.

Rather timid and cautious in some ways and yet ruthless in his emotional moments if pushed too far, as his heavy ending strokes show temper. Could be very dangerous on the spur of the moment, but not the type who can play a long waiting game all by himself, as has been done in this case.

Yet he could be persistent enough in holding a grudge to kidnap the child and to kill him in a fit of temper and remorse. But if he had commited this crime he would never have written these notes or tried to collect the reward.

I do not believe this writer had anything to do with the kidnaping or murder. Just one of a group who are trying to "cash in" on the love and devotion of this fine, representative American father and mother.

FACES MENTAL TEST

It is expected that Dr. Charles A. Worthen, Lynn district physician, will ask that the case be continued in order that alienists may examine Murphy. The latter declared he was a radio crooner and that he also sang in the choir of a Saugus church. Police have been unable to substantiate these claims.

Murphy was arrested when he stopped to watch a fire in Stevens st., Lynn. Police had been furnished with a description of him by two victims. Patrolmen William Twomey and George Kennedy took him into custody.

Dempsey May Rewed, But His Bride 'Won't Be Actress'

San Francisco, May 26 (AP)—When and if Jack Dempsey marries again, the next Mrs. Dempsey will not be an actress—"not while she is in the profession."

The former king of heavyweights made this statement to the Associated Press here today following a report from Los Angeles which linked his name with that of Lina Basquette, screen actress.

Dempsey denied an attractive brunette he escorted to a dance and baseball game was Miss Basquette. The Los Angeles reports quoted Teddy Hayes, boxing trainer and assistant to Jack Kearns, one time Dempsey manager, as saying the former heavyweight champion had displayed marked interest in Miss Basquette.

Dempsey denied he had "stolen" Miss Basquette from Hayes, as Hayes assertedly had charged.

The brunette of the baseball game and dance, Dempsey said, was Miss Rosita Gonzales, 20, daughter of a prominent Argentine family.

Dempsey and his former actress-wife, Estelle Taylor, were divorced in Reno last year.

Pays $19,128 to Get "$60,000,000 Trunk"

Washington, May 26 (AP)—A Washington widow's story of paying $19,128 to obtain a trunk in England containing $60,000,000 in gold has brought Dr. Frank L. Purdy into legal difficulties.

He was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Florence Means Kay. Mrs. Kay said the trunk was to be shipped to her if she would defray transportation expenses and the money was to be used for charity.

RIOTS FOLLOW PRUSSIAN DIET FIGHTING

Berlin, May 26 (AP)—The bloody disorders in the Prussian Diet yesterday were followed today by riots in three German cities.

In Hamburg, where thousands of hunger marchers battled police last night, disorders were resumed today, when Communists and jobless began plundering a grocery store. Police, using their pistols, wounded 15. One policeman was injured.

Hours after the outburst the authorities were busy putting down smaller demonstrations in various parts of the city.

One policeman was injured and 22 men were arrested in an unemployment demonstration at Dortmund.

In the northern part of Berlin today there were numerous fights between Communists and followers of Adolf Hitler. Several persons were injured and many were arrested.

The Prussian Diet was the scene yesterday of a hand-to-hand battle between National Socialists (Hitlerites) and Communists unprecedented in Germany's parliamentary history.

The hall was wrecked and about half a dozen members were injured when the Hitlerites swept the Communists from the chamber. The fight arose from a speech by a Communist deputy, who asserted that there were murderers on the Hitlerite benches.

TO QUIZ YOUTH IN DEATH OF A QUINCY GIRL

Indications of a romance today entered the probe of the mysterious death of Miss Irene MacDonald, 26, of 75 High st., Quincy, while an analysis of her vital organs was being made here.

Lieut. Avery of the Quincy police, conducting an investigation, learned that Miss MacDonald had planned to visit a young man in Albany, N. Y., over the week-end.

In preparation for the visit she had gone shopping during her lunch hour in Boston Tuesday, accompanied by a Miss Halpin of Silk st., Arlington, and had purchased a sweater.

Lieut. Avery, who found nothing in the girl's home which would throw light on her death, planned to communicate with the youth today. The police official expressed the belief that she died of natural causes.

Medical Examiner Fred M. Jones of Quincy was non-committal pending a report on the chemical analysis of Miss MacDonald's organs, being made by Dr. Timothy Leary, medical examiner for Suffolk County.

JAPS CONTINUE WAR POLICY

Tokio, May 26 (AP)—Japan's military policy in Manchuria was more firmly entrenched than ever today, when, at the last minute, Gen. Sadao Araki was named to continue as war minister in the new Cabinet of Admiral Saito.

The retention of Gen. Araki guarantees the continuation of the present military policies in Manchuria, which have been criticized throughout the world.

The Cabinet was installed with the customary ceremony at the imperial palace this afternoon in the presence of Emperor Hirohito.

Policies include prosecution of the "pacification" campaign of the Japanese army, support for the new regime of Henry Pu-Yi at Changchun, and measures for binding Japan and Manchuria into an economic unit.

GARBO IS SILENT ON HER PLANS

Hollywood, Cal., May 26 (INS)—Silence continued to shroud the future plans of Greta Garbo today. No announcement has been forthcoming of a contract renewal and apparently she has not changed her plans to return to Sweden.

Even her whereabouts were a mystery today. According to her manager, Harry Edgington, the star is on a "vacation."

According to Hollywood, Miss Garbo has been receiving $10,000 a week for her screen work and would not be adverse to receiving $14,000 a week for the same work in the future.

Friends of the star insist she is planning to return to Sweden because she is tired and wants a real rest.

"I have a message of peace for the world."

It was Paul H. Chepioff, 44, a millinery worker, who seized the microphone as Levy was speaking at a dinner of the Hungarian Society. Chepioff was overpowered after biting two guests.

JACK GILBERT HAS FIANCEE AS LEADING LADY

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service

Hollywood, May 26—It's going to be very easy for Jack Gilbert to make love to Virginia Bruce, his leading woman in "Downstairs," his next Metro Goldwyn Mayer picture. It's going to be just as easy for pretty red-haired Virginia to respond to the Handsome Jack's protestations of affections.

You see, they both will be acting a scene from real life. When Jack's divorce from Ina Claire becomes final, August 15, Miss Bruce will become Mrs. Gilbert.

Of all the recent Hollywood romances this engagement comes as the greatest surprise. Jack has had many affairs of the heart, but none of them serious. He and Lupe Velez gave the newspapers some first class copy when she and Jack traveled east on the same train and later were seen together in Europe. At no time, however, did Jack admit that there was a bona-fide engagement betwen himself and the tempestuous Miss Velez.

Since that time he has appeared at Hollywood social affairs with various girls and it is only lately that he has confined his attentions to Miss Bruce.

This will be Mr. Gilbert's third marriage. He was married first to Leatrice Joy, by whom he has a small daughter. This is Miss Bruce's first marriage.

2 BOYS TRAPPED IN ICE-BOX DIE

Scotia, N. Y., May 26 (INS)—Two little boys were dead today because they crawled into an ice box in an empty flat in this city. The door swung shut and they were suffocated while their parents were searching for them.

They were Robert Nicholson, six, and his playmate, William Rice, Jr., five.

The Nicholson boy was dead when his father finally found him and his little pal in the ice box, but the Rice boy was still alive. He died a few hours later in Ellis Hospital.

The boys were playing about the Rice home during the afternoon. Late in the day they were missed and a search was started. Shortly before midnight, after police had been notified, John Nicholson, father of one of the boys, decided to look through the empty flat over the Rice home. He opened the door of the old icebox and there were the two missing children.

Mrs. Costello, who was 55 years old, was a patient at Columbus Hospital. She was being transferred to Bellevue Hospital when death occurred.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

GIRLS HURT AT PASTOR'S TRIAL

London, May 26 (AP)—Several young women were crushed today attempting to push their way into Church House, Westminster, where Rev. H. F. Davidson, 62-year-old rector of Stiffkey, is being tried on charges of immorality.

After a struggle, police got control and locked the doors, leaving hundreds outside.

Inside, spicy testimony started yesterday was continued. It revolved about a photograph of the elderly rector with a young girl, who, the prosecution indicated, was nude except for somewhat inefficient draping with a shawl.

Repeatedly and heatedly Rev. Mr. Davidson denied knowing that aside from the shawl, the girl was naked. He said he thought she wore a bathing suit, explaining that the picture had been designed to advertise bathing suits.

WALKER ACCUSES SEABURY OF PLOT, DISOWNS SHERWOOD

"Kindnesses" Pay Walker $282.692

By the Associated Press

"I've had countless kindnesses," Mayor Walker testified today to the Hofstadter legislative committee.

Among the $282,692 specifications given the committee yesterday and today were:

$246,692 from a joint brokerage account with Paul Block, for which the mayor put up no money.

$10,000 profit on an investment made on the mayor's behalf by Esmond O'Brien.

$26,000 from a pool in Cosden Oil. The mayor put up no money. He received bonds from J. A. Sisto, banker.

least a thousand persons discussed that subject with me."

Asked if McKeon took Sisto to his apartment in an Atlantic City hotel in 1929, Walker replied:

"I met Mr. Sisto in Atlantic City in 1928 at a convention of Paramount, Famous Players. He was introduced to me as the brother-in-law of Sidney Kent, vice-president of Paramount, Famous Players.

HIS SISTO MEETING

"I was co-guest of honor at a dinner with the then-secretary to the President, George Akerson. We both spoke at the dinner. It was after the dinner I met Mr. Sisto."

Seabury suggested Walker met Sisto before that meeting.

"Please, judge," Walker said, "I shake hands with a great many people. I can't possibly remember them all, but please don't tell them about it."

A number of those who attended the dinner later met in a private party, Walker said.

Walker started to discuss the $26,000 worth of bonds—and paused.

"Are you being interrupted?" Seabury asked.

"I am being interrupted," Walker replied, staring down at some one at the counsel table, "and with the utmost discourtesy. I am conscious of a sneer on the face of an employe of the state of New York."

"You're very sensitive today," said Seabury.

"I am not sensitive," the mayor replied.

Senator Dunnigan, during an argument that followed, charged Seabury was appointed counsel for the committee by Kingsland Macy, Republican State chairman, "before the committee was appointed."

CROWD IS NOISY

There was a good deal of an uproar while the mayor told the story of the $26,000 in bonds.

Substantially his story was that it might have been "anyone at the Atlantic City party" who told him about the pool, but that to the best of his recollection it was not Sisto.

After he had been told the pool was closed, he "forgot all about it," he said, "until they delivered the bonds."

"Oh, it was after a banquet," he said when Seabury asked him how he had happened to forget about the pool. "I just forgot, that's all."

After a recess Chairman Hofstadter said:

"If there's any more noise, all the standees in the room will be excluded first. Then, if there's any more noise, we will clear the room."

Walker said the bonds were delivered to him in December, 1929, or January, 1930.

"Mrs. Walker or Mr. Sherwood," Walker said, "deposited the coupons in the bank. Probably Mr. Sherwood did, for he transacted all her business for her—deposited money, paid bills, and so on, as he did for me."

McNaboe interrupted here, demanding to know what "is the motive behind this line of questioning."

Walker and Seabury whispered together during the argument. Once the mayor smiled openly at Seabury.

As the chairman banged his gavel Walker stuck his fingers in his ears and made a wry face. There was subdued laughter in the rear of the courtroom.

Assemblymen Steingut and Cuvillier then joined McNaboe in demanding that Seabury state his motives.

'SEABURY IS BOSS'

"After all, he's an employe of this committee,' McNaboe said.

"Mr. Seabury is counsel for this committee and please refer to him as such," Hofstadter said.

"He's the boss o' the committee—thats what he is!" McNaboe retorted.

"Mr. Chairman and all the committee," the mayor interrupted. "the mayor has many things to do. Please don't keep me here any longer than is necessary."

"If I'm willing to take a chance,' he added, turning to the Democrats, "you ought to be."

The Mayor said he had never heard that Sherwood, as testified Monday by Samuel Ungerleider, had sold to Ungerleider's firm stocks at more than $20,000 above the market value.

He said he never had discussed Sherwood's private affairs with him.

Q—Sherwood was your representative, wasn't he? A—He was never my representative.

Q—Didn't you have a safe deposit box with him? A—I did not.

Q—(Showing him a record) Is that your signature? A—Apparently it is.

Q—Doesn't that convince you, you had a joint safety deposit box with Sherwood? A—It does not.

Q—How do you account for your signature being on this application? A—The box was taken temporarily to store some valuable papers belonging to a client of mine, when I was still with the law firm.

DENIES SISTO BRIBE

The mayor then addressed the committee saying:

"If there is any question of my meeting with Sisto having any bearing onthe taxicab situation, if there is any innuendo that Sisto tried to bribe me, I want to say that after the bonds were delivered, an ordinance was passed to increase the taxicab rates. The mayor could pass the ordinance and increase the taxicab fares or the mayor could veto it, killing the raise.

"The bill came to me in April, 1930, six months after I received the bonds. I vetoed it 10 days later. During that time, there was plenty of chance for Mr. Sisto or anybody else to come to me and try to influence me if they had wanted to."

The mayor then read to the committee a transcript of the statement he made to the board of aldermen at the time he vetoed the bill.

"YOU, SEABURY!"

"By the way," the mayor interrupted himself, "there was at one time doubt whether the law would permit the mayor to sign a taxicab control bill. I referred the matter to Mr. Justic Seabury of the Supreme Court and was told the mayor could sign such a bill."

"Justice Seabury," he added, leaning forwards and nodding at gave me that opinion."

"The Parmalee people," Walker said as he finished reading the statement, "at that time had 1000 taxicabs on the streets of New York. If I had passed that bill, the Parmalee company would have profited $1,000,000 in one year."

The hearing then recessed for lunch.

There was some applause as the mayor walked through the courthouse rotunda, but no demonstration such as he received yesterday. The crowd was much smaller. The police still stood in line forming a lane to the street.

DRIVERS ASKED TO FIGHT FIRES

Concord, N. H., May 26 (AP)—The thousands of motorists expected to visit New Hampshire during the Memorial Day week-end were requested today by John H. Foster, State forester, to carry shovels with them so that they might be prepared to stop small fires starting in the woods.

"In many instances," he said, "small fires can be quickly extinguished by one or two persons who have shovels to work with, where otherwise the flames would spread and cause heavy damage."

The ban against traversing woodlands, including fishing, is in effect throughout the State, except Coos County, the northern tip of the State. It will continue over the week-end unless rain falls within 36 hours. Foster said it would be the first time in the State's history that such a ban had been extended over Memorial Day.

46 City Hospital Nurses to Graduate

Mayor Curley is expected to give the graduation address when the School of Nursing of the Boston City Hospital holds its final exercises for the class of 1932 tonight in Boston College High School Hall.

Forty-six student nurses will receive degrees. Jesse P. Manning, chairman of the board of trustees, will preside.

3 False Alarms Bad Enough, But Phantom Box Is Last Straw

Three false alarms are bad enough, but it isn't fair to Melrose firemen to have a box sound that doesn't exist.

Boxes 19, 39 and 321 clanged for no good reason during the wee hours this morning and the boys got rather "het up."

But 374 was the fourth and the only things that burned up was the smoke eaters. They chased around for the location, and there wasn't any.

It was a good morning for a ride anyway.

GOVERNOR ADDS $1,470,000 TO BUDGET

Gov. Ely today sent to the Legislature a supplementary budget calling for the expenditure of $1,470,000, bringing the total budget to $60,810,000, and establishing, in prospect, a state tax of $9,750,000.

The state tax might be increased to $10,500,000 if the Legislature fails to heed the Governor's recommendation to eliminate from the original budget an item of $764,000 for interest on notes not issued.

Or it may be reduced to some extent if, as now sheems likely, the Legislature decided to cut salaries. There is an impression quite general that the tax and ways and means committees, now sitting jointly, will recommend a 6 per cent cut on all salaries of $2000 and more.

In any event a substantial budget reduction from last year is in prospect. Last year's total figures were $78,600,000. The budget for 1930 was $65,500,000.

BROWNE READY FOR COAST HOP

Seattle, May 26 (AP)—On the wings of a south wind Nathan C. Browne, New York flier, hoped to lift his big monoplane from Boeing Field today and swing to the north and west on a flight across the Pacific to Tokio for a $30,000 prize.

With reports showing clearing weather south of the Aleutians and along his route toward Japan, Browne set a starting time of between 6:30 and 8:30 a. m. (Pacific States Time). He hoped to take advantage of early morning south winds to aid in lifting his heavily laden Lone Star after its long run.

Browne said he was confident his load of 950 gallons of gasoline would carry him along the long trek, upwards of 4700 miles, to Tokio. The prize offer for the first Seattle-Tokio flight expires June 1.

Another inquiry about the flight was received by officials in a letter from Mrs. Lily W. Reed of New York, saying she was considering flying west with an unnamed partner to attempt the long hop.

Rail Sale Confirmed

The sale of the Worcester Consolidated Street Railway Co. to Nathan D. Bugbee and Hazen H. Ayer for $1,500,000 was confirmed yesterday.

Set for Tokio Hop

Nathan C. Browne, who plans long flight today from Seattle to Tokio. Japan recently accorded him permission to land in that country.

2 IDENTIFIED AS 'GIANT'S' PAL

Two men arrested in Lynn yesterday as suspected accomplices of Boston's "giant bandit," Joseph Keyes, were today picked from a police lineup at headquarters as participants in several holdups in this city and Worcester.

Michael Troy of Union st, Lynn, was identified as having taken part in a Columbia rd., Dorchester holdup six weeks ago, and in two armed robberies in Worcester.

Joseph Gleason of Worcester was picked out as the man who held up a Worcester store manager, robbing him and looting the cash register.

George Horan, who was also in the lineup, was identified as one of two men who robbed a Haymarket sq. lunchroom last Sunday night.

Roxbury Man Guilty of Manslaughter

Olanders Marshall, 22, of 54 Sawyer st., Roxbury, was found guilty today of manslaughter and carrying a revolver without a permit by a Suffolk Superior court jury.

Marshall was accused in connection with the shooting of Miss Beatrice Pollard, 22, of 20 Dilworth st., South End, in a free-for-all fight at a party at 18 Newbern st., Roxbury, Feb. 19.

'NUISANCE TAX' DRAWS FIRE OF TOBACCO MAN

Cigarette bootleggers will result if Massachusetts places a State tax on tobacco products, it was declared today at the "nuisance tax" hearing in the State House by Dudley P. Ranney, representing the Joseph P. Manning Company, tobacconists.

"We have a group of bootleggers in the Commonwealth now," said Ranney. "Do we want another group?"

The tobacco industry, he declared, already bears "an overwhelming burden of taxation,' with more than $500,000,000 already levied on tobacco products. Of this amount, he said, $360,000,000 is borne by cigarettes.

From 1920 to 1930, he pointed out, the consumption of cigarettes gained approximately 10 per cent each year, but since 1930 there has been a falling off, because of unemployment and the depression.

Additional imposts will mean a further falling off, Ranney asserted, and he warned that such additional taxes might be a temptation for some of the 40,000 honest retailers of tobacco products in this State to become dishonest in order to survive.

BAKER FIGHTS LEVIES

Day Baker, representing the Motor Truck Club of Massachusetts and the Automobile Owners' League, objected not only to the proposed "nuisance taxes" on tobacco, bottled beverages and amusement tickets, but declared that extra gasoline and real estate taxes which are threatened would be an impossible burden at this time.

Motor vehicle owners of the state, he said, are paying nearly $65,000,000 a year as their share of the tax burden.

He recommended that additional income be raised for government by taxing the income of securities which are now tax exempt or which bear but little tax. This would eliminate the necessity for "unisance taxes" and an additional one-cent tax on gasoline.

Funeral Services for Mrs. Mahoney

Funeral services took place today for Mrs. Ellen Mahoney, wife of Thomas E. Mahoney of the Brookline forestry department and mother of Lieut. Joseph P. Mahoney of the Brookline police. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Mary's of the Assumption Church. Burial was in Holy Hood Cemetery, Brookline.

CHILDREN SOLD AT AUCTION IN HUNGARY

Budapest, May 26 (INS)—Slavery has been unknown in Hungary since before the middle ages, but the serious economic difficulties of today have forced many of the poorest peasants to sell their children for ridiculous sums.

The first public sale of children took place at the market of the village Jasz-Szent-Andras. A woman arrived at the fair in a big horse cart loaded with about 20 boys and girls, six to ten years old. They were the children of a group of farm hands who had jobs on far-away estates. It was impossible for them to take their children along and so they gave them to the woman for sale on commission.

BOYS SELL FOR $325

The child monger shouted in the middle of the market place:

"Strong boys and girls for sale at the lowest possible price."

Many farmers who had none or too few children came to look at the "material" for sale, needing children to do chores.

The children were sold for a very low price. "Strong" boys went for 25 pengos ($3.25), smaller and weaker boys for 20 pengos and girls for 15. All the children were sold in half an hour.

THREE UNWANTED

A small girl of 8, who had with her a brother of 5 and a sister of 3, was wanted by nobody because the little ones were unfit for work. In the end the child-monger knocked down the three for 5 pengos (less than $1), only to get rid of them. She received a commission of 15 per cent from the parents of the children.

Lady Luck Still With Him, Despite Two Auto Crashes

Albert R. Radway, of Englewood ave., Brighton, is one of those fellows who plays in and out with luck.

Three weeks ago, Radway, with John E. Brown and two girl companions, escaped death when his automobile plunged over a 30-foot embankment, after it had collided with another car and injured four persons.

A few days later Radway was locked up in the Metropolitan police station on a series of charges growing out of the accident. He played back into luck a week later, however, when Judge Reeve found him not guilty of all charges.

ANOTHER CRASH.

Last night, on the same highway, Radway's luck again turned and a machine he was operating collided with another operated by Anthony L. Taylor of Hull st., West End.

Miss Vera Iannilla of McLean st., West End, claimed injuries to her back and it meant that Radway would have to report the accident.

Into the same Metropolitan police station, where he was locked up before, walked Radway. There wasn't an officer in the place who didn't recognize him and at the same time remember that they had read in the newspapers that his license had been suspended.

The desk officer took what information Radway gave him and said nothing. He marked the report "investigate" and referred to the revocation action he had read about.

But Radway's luck was back with him this morning. The police inspectors went over to the registrar's office certain they would obtain evidence on which to arrest Radway.

FORGOTTEN TO MAIL IT

To their dismay, however, all the officers discovered was than Registrar Ryan had revoked the license on May 12.

Further investigation, however, disclosed that the girl clerk whose duty it is to mail the legal notice of revocation had forgotten about it and Radway had never been notified to surrender his license.

Today, however, Radway will receive a special delivery registered letter that will notify him his license to drive has been suspended indefinitely.

However, the Metropolitan police will not be able to arrest him.

Bumper Wheat Crop Is Indicated for 1932

Rome, May 26 (AP)—The International Institute of Agriculture estimated today that the 1932 world wheat acreage exceeds that of 1931 by 7,000,000 acres.

The winter wheat area has decreased about 4,000,000 acres, but the increase in the acreage of spring wheat was expected to be approximately 11,000,000. This includes an increase in the United States of 7,000,000 acres.

'White Rock and Ice' Charge Irks Harvard Crimson

Seeing a bit red, the Harvard Crimson came out today with a smart slap against "the little torments which university officials invent to rack the pocketbook of thriftless students."

The Crimson doesn't want students to be charged for seven days meals in the House, when they, in a moment of forgetfulness, order "White Rock and ice."

Why a student should order White Rock and ice is not made clear by the Crimson.

Specifically the complaint of the Crimson is that if a student declares his intention of taking no meals at his House dining-room during any week, he should not be booked for the entire week's meals if he forgets and goes in at the end of the week.

Indiana Gives Ride to "Bonus Brigade"

Washington, Ind., May 26 (AP)—Indiana and Ohio co-operated today to speed 350 World War veterans on their hitch-hiking way across the continent to Washington, D. C., to ask payment of the bonus.

A caravan of 26 Indiana National Guard motor trucks transported the "bonus brigade" to the Ohio line, where the marchers will be picked up.

$4000 Gems Taken From Locked Auto

Washington, May 26 (INS)—Police have been unsuccessful in their efforts to recover $4000 worth of gems lost by Mrs. Roberta E. Timberlake, wife of Rep. Charles B. Timberlake of Sterling, Colo.

Mrs. Timberlake told police she left her valuables wrapped in a handkerchief on the seat of her auto while visiting a country club. She said the auto doors were locked and the windows were up.

THOMAS NAMED BY IDAHO G. O. P.

Boise, Idaho, May 26 (AP)—For all practical purposes, the count was complete today in the Idaho primary, although only 611 of the 819 state precincts had reported.

United States Senator John Thomas was renominated while the Democrats named James P. Pope, Boise mayor, to oppose him. Pope took no definite stand on prohibition; Thomas is a dry.

AMELIA MEETS AMY JOHNSON

London, May 26 (AP)—Amy Johnson, Great Britain's noted airwoman, and Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, America's world transatlantic flier, met today for the first time.

Miss Johnson, accompanied by her fiance, J. A. Mollison, famous British long-distance flier, went to the American embassy at Prince's Gate to see Mrs. Putnam. They chatted for a long time and posed for photographs.

Miss Johnson, who has flown in record time from England to Australia alone, paid the visit at Mrs. Putnam's wish.

Mollison, in view of a transatlantic flight which he plans to make soon, asked Mrs. Putnam a number of questions about flying conditions over the ocean especially regarding the formation of ice on the wings.

Mother Finds $200 She Said Son Stole

Buffalo, N. Y., May 26 (AP)—Casper Schiele, wherever he is, will be glad to know that his mother has found out her mistake.

Last November she charged him with stealing $200 from her and he left home. But she has found the money in an old shoe and remembers hiding it there.

Girl Gets Arrested to Test Bathing Law of 1910

Chicago, May 26 (AP)—Dorothy Reeder, who is what many would call a beautiful girl, wanted to know what she could wear on a Chicago beach, so she had herself arrested.

She appeared yesterday in one of those ultra-modern swimming suits and asked a policeman if he would please take her into custody because she was violating a law.

Her idea was to make a legal test of a 1910 city ordinance which says:

"Women may wear blouse and bloomer suits or without stockings, provided that the blouse has one-quarter arm sleeves, or close-fitting armholes, and that the bloomers are of a pattern which is full."

BETTS SEEKS THIRD VICTORY OVER PHILLIES TODAY

FANNING

With GEORGE UNDERWOOD

'Ain't Luck Grand, Agnes? But If It's Ag'in You! Pity the Poor Red Sox. They're Up Against It. Luck of the Fisherman. Not Forgetting Horace.

"One Day It's Milk and Honey, Next Day," Etc.

It never rains but it pours. Here's the lowly Red Sox, buried so deep in the cellar they are almost down to China, going so bad that they even fell prey to a ninth inning Providence College rally, home for a breather and running kerplunk into the three strongest teams in the league! This afternoon and Saturday and Sunday they face Jimmy Foxx, who is breaking all batting records, including Babe Ruth copyrighted homers, and his brother Athletics, erstwhile champions of the universe. Monday the socked Sox go to New York to face the bludgeon of their rumored next year's boss, Babe Ruth, and the league-leading Yankees of Murderers' Row They'll only have a day's rest—and believe us, brother, they'll need it—before returning to our beloved Boston to open a series with Walter Johnson's Senators, who are panting on the flanks of the Yankees and have the yen in their hearts to pull 'em down and do the pace-setting themselves. By the time it's all over our Sox will be even more worn out at the heel than ever. What good old Bob Quinn, as fine and square a fellow as ever stood in shoe leather, and Shono Collins, who certainly can manage a team if he had one, both need is a load of sympathy and a flock of ballplayers. Sympathy isn't so hard to get—providing it isn't financial. But ball players do not grow on bushes. It certainly looks as if Bob and Shono were out of luck.

Ain't luck the funny thing, Agnes? There was Tex Rickard, for instance. For years he ran his big fights and beat the Weather Man to it every time. It might rain—and, gosh, how it did rain that night of the Fight of The Big Rain in Philadelphia, when Gene Tunney took the title from Dempsey—but never until the money was in the box office and the fans in their seats. The skies were as lowry and the weather as cranky as an old hag the day that Rickard piled 'em into Boyle's 30 Acres for the Battle of the Century. But the lean Texan waved his magic wand and Jupiter Pluvius didn't tip his sprinkling can until Rickard's show was over. The Panama hat of famous Arthur Brisbane, who sat at the ringside, didn't even get a drop of water on it, and Princess Bibesco, who sat beside the famous editorialist, didn't have her summery finery moistened with a solitary atom of moisture, except that which came sprinkling from the sponge of Manager Francois Descamps, when Carpentier went down from the bludgeoning fists of the Man Killer.

Speaking of luck, take Bob Quinn himself. Bob's record against the Weather Man even wrecked Rickard's. For 17 years in Columbus Quinn didn't have a single, solitary Sunday game called off because of bad weather. In six years at St. Louis he lost only two Sundays through interference by the Weather Man. But here in Boston—Blooie! Bob has been lucky as ever with the weather, but in other ways. Hard Luck has camped steadily on his trail. His third base stands burned down and they changed the law so he couldn't rebuild 'em. Big Ed Morris, a pitcher who much was expected of this year, was killed. And now good old Bob has about the most raggedy team that an owner ever was inflicted with wished on him. Luck's a great thing when it's with you, but it's plain h—l when it's ag'in you.

LIONEL HITCHMAN

CHARLIE WARMUTH

Now here's a different kind of luck—fisherman's luck. Some of you Nimrods may have dreamed of tossing your double fly Silver Doctor out over the pine bordered pool and having the king of salmon rise for it. But it actually happened to Lionel Hitchman, former captain and star defense man of our late lamented Bruins. To prove it, here's the great hockey player himself, standing on the banks of the Harts Island pool, about seven miles from Frederickton, N. B., with the catch, a 27-pound hook bill salmon, 36 inches long and 20 inches around the belt—eh, we mean abdomen, old deah.

And what was the first thing Hitchman did after he had landed his great catch? Why he hurried back to his camp at Springhill, climbed in the buckboard and drove to Fredericton where he shipped the fish to Charlie Warmuth, the popular Devonshire st. restauranteur, to throw a feed for some of the hockey fans. Here's Charlie with "Hitch's" big fish he's going to broil for the gang tomorrow. Some of you fishermen have dreamed of landing such a "whale." With Hitchman dreams come true. Yes, luck's terrible when it's ag'in you, but it's great when it's with you.

And then there's baseball luck. There's Horace Ford, the infield castoff, for instance. Horace has been wandering around in search of a job. Jobs are scarcer than hen's teeth, these days, as a few million of us are well aware. But luck broke for Horace. Lacking reserve strength, Manager Bill McKechnie looked around and—lo and behold—he spotted Horace. This morning Horace wakes up a member of the Boston Braves, who, a whole flock of us believe, will be opposing the murderous Yanks when the next World's Series rolls around. Yes, luck's a great thing—when it's with you. Ask Horace Ford.

One-Man Track Team Wins in Six Events

Worcester, May 26—Worcester Academy track followers were quite sure today that Capt. Anthony Kishon of their running aggregation is a one-man team.

Kishon stepped out yesterday and copped six first places as Worcester Academy put the Springfield freshmen over the jumps, 86 to 40.

Capt. Tony won the two hurdle races, the javelin, hammer, discus and shotput in the course of a busy afternoon's work.

He scored 30 points by himself and probably could have tied the Springfield total if he elected to enter in two more events.

Feather Title Will Be Awarded Tonight

Detroit, May 26 (AP)—Tommy Paul of Buffalo, N. Y., will match his powerhouse punches against the demonstrated durability of Johnny Pena, New York, in a 15-round featherweight championship bout at Olympia Arena tonight.

Jockey Coucci Up on Three Winners

Belmont Park, N. Y., May 26—Little Silvio Coucci carried off the riding honors at Belmont Park today by gathering in the Spindrift Handicap with Pari-Mutuel, which belongs to Joseph E. Widener.

Fence-Breaking Foxx Performs at Fenway

By JOE CASHMAN

After a two-day rest, the Red Sox are back at the Fens this afternoon to open a four-game series with the champion Philadelphia Athletics. There will be single games today and Saturday and a doubleheader at Braves Field on Sunday.

The league-leading Braves, in the meanwhile, will be playing three single games in Philadelphia and a Sunday twin-bill in Brooklyn.

Both local clubs are now in the midst of a very freakish schedule.

The Sox left here a week ago for three games in Philly and three more in Washington and they haven't played since Monday. Tomorrow they have another off day.

On Memorial Day the Sox hop to New York for two games with the Yanks. They'll have Tuesday off, return home Wednesday for a four-day series with the Senators and then jump right back to New York for a Sunday game.

The Braves return home on the holiday for a doubleheader with the Giants and will play a single tilt with the New Yorkers on the following afternoon. They'll loaf Wednesday, spend the next three days in Brooklyn, come back again for a Sunday game with the Giants and then take another day off before the world's champion Cardinals open the first Western invasion of the Wigwam on June 17.

The Red Sox won their last start, beating the Senators in Washington on Monday, and their pitchers, who had been working almost every other day, are today well rested.

Collins Has Made Two Shifts in Lineup

Manager Collins made two shifts in his lineup in the final game in Washington putting Rabbit Warstler at short in place of Hal Rhyne and Al VanCamp at first in place of Johnny Reder.

Since the new combination clicked nicely, "Shono" will probably stick to it in the opener against the Athletics. If Marty McManus, who hurt his leg a week ago, is to return for action, he likely will go back to second base, replacing Marvin Olson.

Big Smead Jolley hammered the ball very hard in every game on the road and added three to his home run total. Webb and Oliver also hit well. If these three fly-chasers keep up the good work and McManus comes back soon and the pitchers hit their stride, the Sox should do pretty well from here in.

The champion Mackmen weren't going so well on their last visit here. They were down in seventh place, only a half game ahead of the natives. Then, they made a clean sweep at the Fens and have been travelling on high ever since. They have won eight of their last 10 games and are now in the first division and within six games off the roof.

Foxx Having His Best Year With Bludgeon

They don't look good enough yet to beat out the Yanks and Senators and win their fourth straight pennant, but it's certain that they're going to be very much in the race all the way.

Manager Connie Mack's only worry now that "Lefty" Grove has hit his stride is at shortstop. Joe Boley had to be released, neither Eric McNair nor Dib Williams could fill the bill and in recent games Jimmy Dykes has been holding down the berth with Jimmy Foxx at third and Oscar Roettger at first.

Foxx, after his batting slump of last year, is enjoying his greatest season with the stick. He's leading the league in hitting with a mark of well over .400 and in home runs with a total of 14. He'll probably add to his circuit clout total, as he has always been very successful in knocking the pellet over the Fenway barriers.

Braves Carry Off Rubber With Dodgers

The Braves gained the edge over the Dodgers by winning the third and rubber game, 4 to 2, before departing for Philly. They had to win to retain their hold on first place as the Cubs came back and blanked the champion Cards.

Young Bobby Brown of Nantasket did the Tribal flinging and turned in a masterpiece. He allowed only four hits, two each to O'Doul and Stripp, fanned five, including Hack Wilson twice, and issued but two passes.

Dazzy Vance, who opposed him, yielded seven hits, yet, as a matter of fact, he would have emerged a 2 to 1 victor had he received the errorless support that was accorded his rival. The Dodgers made three miscues and handed the Braves three unearned markers.

The victory was the third of the season for Brown, who is still undefeated, and his second over Vance. He beat the Dazzler, 5 to 1, at the Wigwam in his first start of the season, early last month.

The Hull boy started off as though his stay on the hill was going to be very brief. After Frederick, first batter, flied out, O'Doul and Stripp tripled in succession in the first inning, and Frankhouse and Brandt rushed to the bull pen.

Bobby, however, quickly settled down and prevented further scoring in the stanza by fanning both Wilson and Cuccinello.

The Braves sewed up the game in the second. Shires singled after Schulmerich fanned, and Spohrer singled after the Rabbit fanned. Brown followed with a fast roller which Cuccinello kicked instead of picking up, permitting Shires to score. Then Knothe doubled, sending in Spohrer and Brown.

Sonny Seeks Revenge for George 'Insult'

By JACK CONWAY

Gus Sonnenberg and Ed Don George will attempt to tear each other into tiny bits when they collide in a finish mat bout at the Arena tonight under the direction of Paul Bowser.

It is one of the few genuine cases in sports where there is a real feud existing between a couple of headliners. The average so-called feud is usually cooked up in the fertile brain of a press agent.

Gus Sonnenberg

Instead of trying to steam Sonny and George up, Bowser has been trying to keep the big fellows from settling the question of supremacy before they enter the ring tonight.

Sonnenberg was riding high and fancy up to the time he was knocked off by George in Los Angeles a year ago last December. The old Dynamiter lost his title with the defeat.

More recently George upset Sonny at the Arena. After each had scored a fall George punched Sonny through the ropes. Gus was counted out.

Mrs. Sonnenberg Aroused by Remark

The real fire to the show was furnished by George when he told Mrs. Sonnenberg at their first meeting 10 days ago that he had licked her husband twice and could do it any time they started.

There's enough of the old Dartmouth spirit in Sonnenberg to resent such a statement. He has told friends that George's remark was uncalled for and said he is suffering from a fat head.

Since mounting the wrestling heights, Sonny has given little attention to the rules of training. He has considered the Eighteenth Amendment as merely one of the minor annoyances of life and has gone his carefree way with reckless abandon.

Gus has changed his system preparing for George. He has trained harder than he has since he won the title from Strangler Lewis. He has adhered to the rules of training, and will be ready to shoot the works tonight.

George, as usual, is in excellent condition. Ed has always been a careful trainer.

The former champion believes he has the Indian sign on Sonny. The fact George is a former Michigan football player enables him to offset Gus' famous flying tackle.

George is Sonny's superior at straight wrestling. Gus came to the wrestling game from the football field, while George was an A. A. U. mat champion before he turned pro.

Nick Lutze, colorful Californian wrestler, will oppose "Casey" Kazanjian of Stanford, recent conqueror of Sonnenberg, in one of the 30-minute bouts. In the other Jim Browning of Missouri will clash with Jack Sherry of Minnesota.

There will be eight prelims with the first pair of grapplers entering the ring at 8 o'clock.

'BULLDOG' BITES AT RING GIANT

New York, May 26 (AP)—Although he will be forced to concede some 25 pounds in weight and six inches in height, Mickey Walker, the modern giant-killer, has been established a 7-to-5 favorite in his 10-round bout with Paulino Uzcudun tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The Rumson bulldog has been training seriously for weeks, and is said to be in equally as fine condition as when he held Jack Sharkey to a draw here last summer.

For Walker the bout means a possible chance against Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight, with the winner to challenge next for the heavyweight title. For Paulino it means only a chance to upset another ambitious young man, one of the best things he does.

Mrs. Sonnenberg Tips Conway to Pick Gus

MRS. GUS Sonnenberg sent Jack Conway the following note:

"I know your selection lost when you picked Gus to beat George in Los Angeles and again in Boston. It would probably be natural for you to name George to win in the third bout.

"You have been so kind to Gus in the past that I want you to be right this time. Gus is in splendid condition and has the zeal and determination to win. Pick him again, as I want you to be able to cheer with Gus and myself when the match is over. I won't be at the Arena, but I will be at home eagerly waiting for the final result."

Jack never could say "no" to the ladies, and so won't even toss his magic coin. He'll string along with Gus again because Mrs. Sonnenberg has asked him to do so.

In the semifinals, Conway looks for Browning and Sherry, and Lutze and Kanzanjian to go to draws. He's picking Macaluso to beat Pat McGill and Wong Bock Cheung to use a pigtail hold on Pat Fraley.

Conway's 1932 records:

ROOKIE HAS BLANKED OLD MATES TWICE

Philadelphia, Pa., May 26—Those surprising Braves from Boston, again leading the National League, come to town today to play three games in as many days with Burt Shotten's last-place Phils.

The last time the Tribesmen were here, they were on the roof. They went from here to Cincinnati, where they were knocked off. But instead of cracking then, as the critics expected, they came back stronger than ever and regained the lead early this week.

The Phils were in third place when first the Braves appeared here and the visitors took two out of three games. So it is logical to expect that the McKechnie crew will do as well, if not better, on this trip.

Walter "Huck" Betts, who has two shutout victories to his credit over the natives and a record of five wins in as many starts this season, will do the flinging for the Beaneaters in today's game.

Twelve years ago, the same Betts was a Philly rookie. He showed little and was allowed to drift back to the bushes. The Braves drafted him last fall from St. Paul, where he won almost 75 games in the past three seasons.

Betts Rated One of Majors' Best Pitchers

"Huck's" record to date stamps him as the best new major league pitcher of the season. In addition to his two wins over the Phils, he has whipped the Giants twice and the world's champion Cardinals. He allowed but five hits while beating the Quakers here, 3 to 0, and he held them to three hits while blanking them, 10 to 0, in Boston, last week.

Art Shires will make his local debut as a Brave today. He was on the injured list when last here. He is playing a bang up game both at bat and around the sack.

With Rabbit Maranville, the marvellous midget who is playing his 21st season in the majors, and Shires in the lineup, the Braves are one of the most colorful as well as classy teams in the circuit.

Ray Benge is down to do the twirling for the Shottenmen today. He hurled against the Braves in the second game of last Sunday's twin-bill in Boston, which was witnessed by a record crowd of more than 52,000. He went out of the game trailing, 3 to 0, but his mates tied the count and won out to save him from a defeat.

Good Chance for Tribe to Increase Lead

The Braves are bound to increase their lead in the race if they win this p. m. as the second-place Cubs will be idle. On the other hand, if the visitors are beaten, they will be passed by the Windy City entry.

If the Braves win, the standing will be:

	W.	L.	P.C.
Boston	23	12	.657
Chicago	23	13	.639

If the Braves lose, the standing will be:

	W.	L.	P.C.
Chicago	23	13	.639
Boston	22	13	.629

The Phils can get out of the cellar if they win and the seventh-place Dodgers lose.

MARCHING ALONG -:- "Fighting" Braves Seems Quite Correct -:- IN SPORT'S PARADE

Making things much warmer at the hot corner. QUINN of Brookline high, who plays third base, is sliding under third-sacker WARNER of Boston College high to get back safely on the bag. This is just one of the thrills that the young Eagles and the Wealthy Towners provided at Brookline as B. C. H. tacked it on, 7 to 2. A big seventh inning, with four runs rushing across, put B. C. high into the winning column.

A handy man to have around is RABBIT MARANVILLE. He's been a great help to the Braves and proves his versatility in this line by helping out the fund for the Veterans of Foreign Wars by buying a Buddy Poppy. MISS MARY T. GRENNAN of Brookline does the pinning.

SPOHRER
REARDON
STRIPP
QUIGLEY

"Let me at him," cries JOE STRIPP, third-sacker of the Dodgers who evidently wants to knock AL SPOHRER of the Braves for a home run or at least a triple. Joe and Al got into an argument yesterday as the Braves whipped the Brooklyns. Spohrer walks calmly away perhaps seeking ART SHIRES, his ring conqueror. Brooklyn did most of the swinging—at the fast ball that Bob Brown blazed by them.

PADDOCK TO TRY FOR OLYMPIC TEAM BERTH

Los Angeles, May 26 (AP)—With an Amateur Athletic Union registration card once more in his possession, Charles William Paddock, once known as the "world's fastest human," turned an eye today toward a place on the United States Olympic team.

The registration committee of the A. A. U. late last night reinstated [illegible]. When Charley applied [illegible] last January, the A. A. U. [illegible]d to give it to him. At that [illegible] the body neither termed [illegible] a professional nor sus[illegible] him.

Paddock, however, was quoted to the effect he had [illegible] a card because of his motion picture work. No statement was made by the A. A. U. last night.

MR. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

Sitting in with Judge Frankland, W. L. Miles, Judge Emil Fuchs, Bill McKechnie and some of the Braves at "Athletic Night" at the Roxbury Board of Trade.

MARANVILLE—Hello, Mr Boston. A few years have rolled past since we were with the old Braves in Macon back in 1915.

Mr. Boston—I saw you get four hits against Brooklyn on Monday. The way you and Urbanski start double plays reminds me of the Maranville to Evers to Schmidt combination of 1914.

Mr. Boston

Gowdy—I have played on a lot of ball clubs since I was with the 1914 Braves, but the present Tribal outfit is the nearest thing to our old combination I have seen. Everybody is working to win ball games. In the clubhouse after the game, the fellows tell each other how good they were. Nobody wants to be the big shot.

Maranville—I came up here with Judge Fuchs and now I duke Judge Miles. I have met more judges the past five years than I thought existed. In the days when I needed the aid of a judge now and then to get me out of a jam, I didn't know a single judge.

Gowdy—Tell Mr. Boston of that place at Egleston sq., where we used to drop in for a glass of beer.

Maranville—Did you say beer? Don't awaken fond memories.

SHIRES—I suppose I'll have to make a speech. I got some practice in speech making when I signed my 1932 contract with Judge Fuchs. One has to talk pretty fast to keep one up on the judge.

Schulmerich—I can't make a speech. I'd rather take a cut at a fast ball.

Berger—So would I.

Brandt—I'm a southpaw, and so would be wild if I tried to do any Daniel Webster stuff.

Judge Fuchs—Everybody is cheering us. I am thinking of that old song, "Will You Love Me in December as You Do in May."

Judge Miles—I think the Braves will win the pennant.

Judge Fuchs—I have been quoted as saying the Braves will cop the flag, but I haven't gone that far yet. I'm just hoping. The boys are playing fighting baseball.

Gowdy—Boston is a swell baseball town and the fans here deserve a break. I would also like to see the Red Sox start winning. Then the town would be baseball mad.

MARANVILLE—The Braves intend to keep up around the roof all season.

Judge Miles—I'll be out in the right field bleachers cheering for you.

Shires—I'll hit you out a few balls. Take them home and give them to the kids.

Gowdy—You wouldn't hit many homers if you had to bat against the boys I keep warming up down in the bull pen. They figure out the various batters as they wait for a call to action. We are sometimes wrong, but we are at least trying. Quite a few ball games are won in the bull pen.

Maranville—I'd like to get into one more world's series.

Judge Fuchs—Well, wait awhile before talking about such things.

Berger—I'd like to get some home runs rolling off my bat.

McKechnie—Just keep on winning ball games, and I won't care whether anybody gets a home run. We have a fighting ball club, and look good even when we get licked. That's the test, looking good when you get licked.

DEADLOCK IN SCHOOLBOY LEAGUE

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

There is certainly a great race in both of the North Shore leagues this year. In the Northeastern Conference Loop the season ends tomorrow and Saugus and Newburyport are still tied at the top with six wins and one defeat.

With Saugus playing Danvers and Newburyport clashing with Amesbury it looks as if the season will end in a deadlock.

In the Essex County circuit Lynn English is still at the top of the pile, but lost a great chance of winning the pennant when it bowed to Lawrence while Lynn Classical was being tossed around by the weak Beverly high nine.

"Lefty" Reming of Lawrence set a new strikeout record for the league when he fanned 17 Lynn English hitters. But regardless of what happens, a Lynn team is sure to win the championship, and the result hinges on the two games between Lynn English and Lynn Classical, the first one to be played Saturday.

YOUNGEST PLAYER BEATEN

Dorothy Hunter, Junior State golf champion and the youngest player in the W. G. A. championship, was defeated by Dorothy Richards, ex-champion in the third round of play at Andover today, 7 and 6.

The Daily Dozen

—By Myles T. McSweeney—

Philadelphians rubbed the sleep out of their eyes today to get a good look at the Braves.

The National League leaders are away for a few days and fans will be able to get down to the trifling things of life once more.

The critics who think the Tribe will crack are right. All the Braves opponents thus far know they have cracked—and how!

Pedestrians will be able to watch speeding autos at Brockton on Memorial Day with no danger to themselves.

Auto speed racers are just ordinary drivers driven mad by red light.

The Red Sox go Foxx hunting today.

Jimmy will have a hard time finding a deeper hole than the one the Red Sox are now in.

The A's plan to jump a few places in the standing over the carcass of the Red Hose.

They may have their troubles holding their own, however. Even the worm turns.

Reports have it that Gus "The Goat" Sonnenberg has lost his horns.

A broken down hammer thrower by the name of Casey Kasangian threw [illegible] to a new record the other night.

De Valera should be told about that one.

IRISH GOLFER ADVANCES

Muirfield, Scotland, May 26 (INS)—Michael Crowley, member of the Irish international team, advanced to the quarter-finals of the British amateur golf championship today by defeating G. N. S. Tweeddale 6 and [illegible]. Crowley eliminated Leonard Martin, one of the chief American hopes, in a second round match.

E. B. Tipple of England defeated C. E. Hardman of England 6 and 4. Other fourth-round winners were H. G. McCallum, L. O. Munn, S. L. McKinley and C. S. Hudson. All American entrants have been eliminated.

I joined the Solons under the name of Bobby Lowe and soon left them under the same name.

Then I resumed my real name and drifted into an outlaw league in Arizona as a first sacker. One day we played at Waco, Texas. I never played a better game than on that afternoon and my performance eventually resulted in my return to the big leagues.

A Waco sports writer was very much impressed by my work and when the Waco team of the Texas League started going bad a short while later he kept urging in his daily column that I be purchased.

He praised me so highly and consistently that the Waco management finally sent for me and signed me up. The following year, I was with the White Sox.

New Swim Record

Paris, May 26 (INS)—A new swimming record for 1000 meters was recorded today by Jean Taris. He covered the distance in 12 minutes and 57 3-4 seconds last night.

ARMS PARLEY IN SPLIT ON SHIPS

Geneva, May 26 (INS)—Naval experts of the [illegible] disarmament conference today completed their report which probably will be handed over to the naval commission at tomorrow's session.

The report, it is understood, makes no definite conclusion except in opposition to [illegible] on which unanimity exists.

PERSHING HITS U. S. DRY LAW

Paris, May 26 (AP)—Gen. Pershing declared today that prohibition in the United States is the basis of racketeering and that it never would have been adopted if the masses of the people had voted on it.

His assertions, made in a pungently-phrased speech before an American Club luncheon in his honor, evoked roars of approval.

Vigorously attacking what he described as conditions of lawlessness in the United States, the General blamed them on the listlessness and apathy of the American people. He declared that the voters permitted such evils as brigandage, racketeering, bootlegging and gangsters by failing to vote the proper men into office.

"It is a crime they are committing against themselves and their Government," he said. "How can popular government hope to endure unless something is done?"

Wisconsin Girl Gets Navy College Honor

Annapolis, Md., May 27 (INS)—Miss Mary K. Douglas of Manitowoc, Wis., will be the color girl at the Naval Academy's graduating exercises Tuesday.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns.

COOLIDGE'S VIEW OF LAW GIVES INSIGHT ON EDUCATIONAL PLAN

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

I RAN ACROSS SOMETHING the other day in "The Autobiography of Calvin Coolidge" which seems to me to have a bearing on the hotly discussed question of educational prerequisites for the study of law and admission to the bar. The bar association seems bound to raise the educational requirement to the equivalent, at least, of a high school education which must be completed before entering law school. The head of the largest separate law school in the city insists that this is only a preliminary step to requiring a college degree for law students, which would pretty nearly shut up the law schools without university affiliations.

PROF. ROGERS

In this connection Mr. Coolidge's testimony is interesting. He was graduated from Amherst College in 1895. His father was well enough fixed to send him to law school and he had planned to go to one, but he had an opportunity to enter a law firm in Northampton "to read law." He accepted the opportunity and studied his law in an office while making himself useful. In July, 1897, after some 20 months of preparation he was admitted to the bar.

Coolidge's View on Law Study

"The books in the office soon appeared too ponderous for my study, so I bought a supply of students' text books and law cases on the principal subjects necessary for my preparation for the bar," the autobiography relates. "These enabled me to gain a more rapid acquaintance with the main legal principles, because I did not have to read through so much unimportant detail as was contained in the usual treatise prepared for a lawyer's library, which was usually a collection of all the authorities, while what I wanted was the main elements of the law. I was soon conversant with contracts, torts, evidence and real property, with some knowledge of Massachusetts pleading, and had a considerable acquaintance with the practical side of statute law.

"I do not feel that anyone ever really masters the law, but it is not difficult to master the approaches to the law, so that given a certain state of facts it is possible to know how to marshal until he became governor in 1918. It will be said that he was counsel are mistaken in the facts of their cases about as often as they are mistaken in the law."

Then he goes on: "It is one thing to know how to get admitted to the bar but quite another thing to know how to practice law . . . In any case a man should not go into the law because it appears to be merely a means of making a living, but because he has a real and sincere love for the profession, which will enable him to make the sacrifices it requires."

This education in law gave Mr. Coolidge a living from 1897 until he became Governor in 1918. It will be said that he was not a very distinguished lawyer, did not handle many notable cases. It may be answered that his legal career will compare favorably with that of at least 80 per cent of any year's graduates from the law schools.

* * *

He Didn't Study Government

The chapter on Education in Mr. Coolidge's Autobiography is one of the longest and certainly one of the most carefully written in the whole book. It may be said that he lavishes care and affection on that chapter. That is perfectly logical, because, being an old-fashioned individualist of the Yankee tradition, Mr. Coolidge puts more faith, comparatively, in individual worth than in environment and social aid. He owes his success to certain specific traits of character. These traits of character he attributes to a certain extent to heredity and environment but far more to training.

Therefore, while he dismisses his law education in two paragraphs as something that any properly educated boy can pick up sufficiently well to make a start on, he devotes a long chapter to the 10 years at the Ludlow Academy and at Amherst College. He goes into his education there in detail. It is interesting to note that there was no science in Mr. Coolidge's training. His was the old-fashioned classical course: Greek and Latin, mathematics, history, rhetoric and oratory, philosophy and ethics. He even lacked economics and government, those mainstays of a modern education looking to the law.

Now this was the old curriculum that produced our clerical, political and legal leaders of the past, the professional class, and it is too soon to say that it is inadequate and played out. The point is, that to the long and strict discipline of these courses taken over a period of 10 years, particularly to the work in philosophy and ethics, Mr. Coolidge attributes that orientation to which, probably justly, he lays much of his success.

Woodrow Wilson's Great Answer

In comparison with this basic education, this long intellectual and spiritual moulding at the most impressionable age of life, he considers the law only a tool, an instrument, to handle which is easily learned.

The argument implicit in these instances is not to be lightly ignored. The bright young man with a very inferior education can probably handle the mere material of the law as well as another with a long and expensive training. But the bright young man who has spent his 10 years in the roughhouse of the industrial and business world may have loads of worldy wisdom, he may be the wisest of wise guys, but he lacks something which he will never be able to acquire, the disciplinary and strengthening influence of 10 years of liberal studies.

A mother once pleaded with Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton, to reinstate a son who had been expelled shamefully. He might, she said, die if he were not shown mercy. And Wilson answered steadily: "Madam, it would be better for your son to die, if it came to that, than that the institution, Princeton, should suffer." That speech illustrates why thousands of Americans still think Wilson the greatest President America ever had.

The Massachusetts Bar Association does not wish to encourage the merely bright boy with a meager educational background. Emphatically, it does not wish to encourage the wise guy. One is sorry for such boys. But the testimony is almost universal that by encouraging them too much already, we have lowered the quality of the legal profession. The lawyer is the servant of the courts of the state. Better that an individual—many of them—be disappointed than that the service of the state suffer. Mr. Coolidge would say so.

Dodged War Death

George Foster, one of the two boys injured when the head of a shrapnel shell exploded in a classroom of Briscoe junior high school, Beverly. He will recover, but Lawrence Ducharme, the other victim, is in serious condition.

MILITARY AIDS SHELL BLAST

While one boy lay dying and another seriously injured was in Beverly Hospital, military authorities joined police today in an investigation of the explosion of a shrapnel shell head in a classroom of the Briscoe junior high school, Beverly.

Lawrence Ducharme, 13, of 5 Prospect st., who accidentally dropped the shell, is not expected to live. George Foster, 14, of 26 Gardner st., who occupied the next desk, will recover, but will be scarred for life.

Superintendent of Schools S. Howard Chace announced there would be no prosecution of young Ducharme, even should he recover, for the case was so obviously an accident.

NONE KNEW OF SHELL

The shell head, with detonating mechanism, was obtained by the Ducharme boy from the cellar of the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Thibodeau, with whom he lives.

Because Thibodeau is a member of Battery F, 101st Field Artillery, 26th Division, Capt. Walter D. Amnott of that outfit is working with police in their investigation.

Ducharme is suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and two wounds in the right thigh. His name has been placed on the danger list. The Foster boy suffered cuts about the head, but his injuries were not considered serious.

2 Fishermen Pay $10 Horned Pout Fine

Possession of horned pout out of season calls for a fine of $20 on each fish. Alexander Kolesinsky and William Tracy, both of Ninth st., South Boston, faced fines of $640 each in Cambridge court today. They caught them in a Belmont pond.

On the recommendation of Game Warden Frederick W. Goodwin the findings on possession were filed, however, and the $10 fines were charged each for fishing without a license.

For the second time the case of George Heuser of Neponset ave., Roslindale, charged in three counts with manslaughter growing out of a Commonwealth ave., Brighton, automobile collision, was continued today in Brighton court, this time to June 2.

John McCaffrey of Arcola st., Roxbury, a passenger in Heuser's car, was burned to death, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Pollard, Jr., of Morton st., Newton, were killed in the other machine.

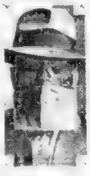
'DIVE' PATRONS HAIL FALL OF OFFICERS

Drink to Ryan, Sent to Sticks, and Tiernan, Exiled From the Theater District

By THE MASKED REPORTER

[illegible] the Boston Evening American

The drinks are on the house today at one of Boston's favorite speakeasies.



Masked Reporter

Beer bottle caps are flying hither and yon with great abandon. Cracked ice makes steady music in the pale green rickey glass. There is a steady flow of "customers" who can't buy a drink because the drinks are free.

So the beer and the rickey glasses are lifted solemnly. And someone says: "Here's to Ryan, chasing woodticks." And someone else: "Here's to Tiernan, pursuing the dusty bookworms." The drinking is very hale and hearty.

SENT TO STICKS

The occasion for the celebration, I learned, is the police department transfer of two Lagrange st. officers, Sergt. Thomas F. Ryan and Sergt. Francis M. Tiernan, who have long prosecuted an unsuccessful feud with David M. Breen and James B. Harmon, owners of Tremont st. property in the heart of theater and where police claim liquor is served.

Sergt. Ryan has gone from the Tenderloin out into the Hyde Park sticks, where the bees are buzzing and the buttercups are blowing their golden fragrance in the breeze. He wanted to go. He asked to go. Mr. Breen and Mr. Harmon have nothing to do with Hyde Park.

Sergt. Tiernan has been relegated to the pursuit of the bookworms in the dusty archives at the headquarters bureau of records. It is much safer for him there. Mr. Breen hung one on his chin recently.

Mr. Breen not only hung one on Sergt. Tiernan, but Mr. Breen and Mr. Marmon, I am told on excellent authority, threatened to hang several on both sergeants during an encounter in a downtown garage a month ago.

Mr. Breen and Mr. Harmon were very stern and Sergt. Tiernan and Sergt. Ryan had little to say except to beg to be excused from any physical encounter. It was shortly after this episode that Sergt. Ryan applied for transfer and Sergt. Tiernan had one hung upon him by Mr. Breen.

I learn also that more than a year ago Capt. Jeremiah Gallivan, the honest and fearless division commander of Lagrange st., demanded to be allowed to visit Police Commissioner Hultman and present to him a personal request for the removal of one of these two sergeants.

ON THE SPOT

He had evidence that he wanted to talk over with Commr. Hultman, and present his case.

And a ranking police authority denied him the right to do it. I mean just that.

It all goes back to the Neptune Associates, the sort of club occupying the premises owned by Breen and Harmon. The police tried in vain to get something on Breen and Harmon, but were unable to do it. They did get a sort of temporary injunction against the associates so they couldn't sell liquor.

Since the injunction, the story goes, Breen and Harmon have kept away from the premises and have even sent a man to collect the rent, realizing they were "on the spot" if they visited the place.

A month ago Breen and Harmon heard that Sergts. Tiernan and Ryan had been making remarks about them around the premises. The four met in a downtown garage.

Harmon and Breen accused the officers of making misstatements concerning their connection with the Neptune Club. When the sergeants defied them, Harmon and Breen threatened them with a "justly deserved" licking. The police were backed up against a wall.

Sergt. Ryan is understood to have immediately applied for the transfer which came through yesterday.

Commissioner Hultman, I know, has had Lieut. Stephen J. Gillis, head of the "secret service squad" investigating that garage encounter between Harmon and Breen and the sergeants. Harmon and Breen have been approached by high police officials seeking the "inside" on what happened and both have denied meeting the sergeants.

But the bartender at the place where they're serving drinks free today—a fellow who has been mixing drinks behind a bar for 40 years—gave me the story and I checked it and I know it's so.

PARIS BY AIR HER GOAL

William M. Clarke, past chairman of the Society of Automotive Engineers, greeting Miss Elinor Smith, noted aviatrix, in Boston today. Miss Smith plans to be the first woman to hop from New York to Le Bourget Field in Paris, she told him.

GARRO QUITS AS GALLO COUNSEL

Vincent Garro, counsel for Samuel Gallo, who is awaiting trial for the murder of Joseph Fantasia in the North End some years ago, resigned as counsel today.

Judge Louis S. Cox, in Suffolk Superior Court, appointed Thomas H. Mahoney as attorney for the defendant.

Gallo has been convicted twice, but was granted a new trial. He was found guilty once, and a new trial was ordered when Miss Philomena Romano was produced by the defense.

A second trial included Ganzi Cero, and at that time both were convicted. Cero was pardoned and has left the country. A wide search has been conducted for Miss Romano for two years, but she has not been found.

MIND TEST FOR SLIPPER BANDIT

In belief that war experiences overseas has unbalanced his mind, George Murphy, alias George Alfred, 33, of Jasper st., Saugus, alleged slipper thief, will be examined as to his sanity, it was declared today when he was arraigned in Lynn court on two counts of larceny.

Murphy, who is also accused of snatching slippers from the feet of girls in Revere, pleaded not guilty to the Lynn charges and his case was continued to June 2.

His counsel, Atty. Charles E. Flynn of Boston, told the court he will request a mental examination.

Two Lynn girls and one from Revere already have identified him as the man who seized them by the ankles and stole their slippers—one from each girl.

Furnace Fire on Warm Night Puts Straw Hat on Jenney

Commissioner Edwin C. Jenney appeared at the Federal building today with a new straw hat and told of being aroused from sleep at his home in Hyde Park during the "wee sma'" hours in a lather of perspiration.

Visions of the necessity of wearing the "straw dicer" in consequence of the heat in his bedroom ran through his mind as he threw off the blankets and gasped for air.

"Phew! Its hot," said Jenney. "And unseasonably hot at that."

Putting his hand on a radiator he found it very, very warm.

Investigation disclosed that a workman had turned on all drafts in the furnace yesterday, causing an almost dead fire to rekindle.

"And that's why I'm wearing the straw hat," said Jenney.

Maximum Rum Fine for Medford Man

Harold Nason of Bowen ave., Medford, was fined the maximum $500 by Judge McLellan in Federal court today when he pleaded guilty to possessing liquor found in a tenement house in Medford.

BIG CAMPAIGN IS TO BE OPENED ON JUNE 1

Different Offenses Are to Be "Specialized" Each Month Over the Entire State

A six months' state-wide police drive to end the most frequent causes of auto accidents will begin on June 1, Police Commr. Hultman notified the Boston [illegible] today.

The drive, like a similar one last year, will be of a progressive cumulative nature, centering during June on speeders; during July on speeders and drivers "cutting" at [illegible] with an obstructed view; during August on the foregoing and motorists who fail to keep to the right; during September on all the previous and drivers who fail to slow down at intersections and when approaching pedestrians, etc.

The "specialty" for October will be the driver who does not observe the eight-foot law with regard to standing street cars and that for November the improper passer and the violator of traffic signals and stop signs.

Red tickets to be used in connection with the drive are being prepared. The driver caught will get half, the stub will be turned in by the policeman with recommendation for warning summons or revocation of license. Police are warned to make no comment to the motorist regarding what action they intend to take.

'ANGEL' BACKING ELINOR'S HOP

A mysterious "somebody" whose identity she does not know is backing the planned flight of Elinor Smith, 22-year-old aviatrix, from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., to Paris, she declared today in Boston.

Miss Smith, who has been flying since she was able to reach her feet down to a rudder bar, was guest speaker before the Society of Automotive Engineers at the Hotel Kenmore and before she left for New York on the noon trimotor plane she visited Frank Hawks, injured speed flier, at Massachusetts General Hospital.

"As soon as I get back to New York," she said, "I will go direct to Roosevelt Field to see that my Lockheed-Vega has been put through the final checking. With that done, I'll be all set to go—and I know I'll make Paris.

"While I'm doing all the actual work myself, I have a backer. Don't ask me who he is. I don't know myself, and I've thought it best not to inquire too closely.

"All I know is that a friend of mine came forward with money and said it had been given him by this mysterious stranger."

HAWKS IN BED 10 MORE DAYS

Capt. Frank Hawks, aerial race and distance flier, will be confined at Phillips House for at least 10 more days, it was announced today.

Nevis Tells Husband She May Quit Him

"MAYBE WITH OLIVE," continued Nevis, "maybe with someone [illegible]. It will be easier [illegible] next time. And I [illegible] and [illegible] and gives me [illegible]

I can find all sorts of excuses for myself, you can find them for yourself. Easier, every time. I tell you, it isn't good enough! We'll get away from here and from everyone and start over again or," said Nevis, crying wildly, "I'll leave you."

"You'll leave me?" he said, paralyzed with incredulity.

"Yes, I won't," she sobbed, "live with you, even loving you, under these circumstances. It isn't marriage. It isn't anything. We've got to get away from it and take stock of ourselves."

[illegible]

"Here, hold on. I'll do anything you say, of course. I love you."

[illegible] Nevis [illegible] "No [illegible] at all [illegible] Easier next time." [illegible] not [illegible] almost [illegible] next time [illegible] not easy [illegible] He was shaken [illegible] anything that [illegible] step.

"I'll do anything," he repeated. "Darling, don't cry so. But what can I do?"

[illegible]

"I went up to town this morning and saw Aunt Margaret. Uncle Walter will get you a job on the sugar plantation, in Port Rico. We can turn this house over to the Mannings and sail, as soon as possible. I talked it all over with her—and with him. There won't be much money. A hundred and twenty-five a month to start. But we'll have our house free and our fuel and light and all that.

EXPENSES LOW

"Expenses will be low. And there's a chance for a big job here in the New York end if you learn the business down there. You're an engineer," she said. "You'll learn. And we'll be getting away from everything we have ever known. Oh, I know we could go back home, you could go into business with your uncle and father. But we'll be caught in a little circle again. We'd be too near New York. Near enough to run down when we got bored or restless. I want to get away. Clean away. I want to be with you in a place where we'll have no one to depend upon but ourselves. I made up my mind to this some time ago. I was waiting for a chance to tell you. Now I have the chance."

She rose and stood beside him. His hands were clasped between his knees and he looked up at her, brows knitted, his face grave, a little white. She said steadily:

"Either you take this job and me, Bill, or you can do anything else you want. But it will be without me. I—I think this is our chance to make something real of our marriage. Something vital. To get away from all the things that have hurt it for me, to get away from the mistakes we've both made." She said: "Make up your mind." She asked: "Are you game?"

He rose and took her in his arms. He answered, with a ghost of his old grin:

I THINK YOU'RE MAD"

"I love you. I think you're mad. But I can't get on without you. I'm game, all right," said Bill.

* * *

"I don't know a damn thing about the sugar business. You put it in your coffee," said Bill, grinning at his wife's uncle by marriage, "and your wife won't let you have three lumps and that's that." He leaned back in a Louis Quinze chair and regarded Walter Mason amiably. "I started out to make lead pipes, then I sold bonds, now I'm going into the sugar racket—which is what a lot of bond salesmen do, come to think of it."

"You'll learn," said Walter Mason, tall and stooped and shaggy of hair and eyebrow. "I'm not worried." He passed a box of cigarettes to Bill and glanced over, across the room, where his wife was in animated conversation with her niece. "The ladies appear to be in conference," said

YOUNGMAN PRAISES DRIVE AGAINST BIGOTRY

Visiting the Foresters

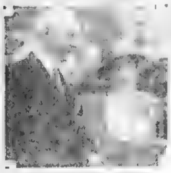
With the Candid Camera

By CANDID CAMERA

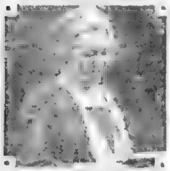
I was lucky yesterday, for in the hot weather they sent me to the New Ocean House in Swampscott. The 53rd annual session of the high court of the Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters was on. There were over 2000 delegates present.

Joseph A. Cahalan, retired High Chief Ranger of the Foresters, was busy running around seeing that everything was in order. When he was pictured chatting with Joseph A. Forestor, high secretary-treasurer, he was high chief ranger. But his term of office expired yesterday.

Mrs. Helena C. Galvin is the new High Chief Ranger of the Foresters. She was waving to one of her many friends when I snapped her picture.



Mrs. Kathryn Fitzgerald, high junior [illegible], is examining a program. The tall man with her is Corporation Counsel Judge J. H. Sheehan.



Mrs. Mary MacDonald, of Jamaica Plain, is the smiling lady above. She was one of the 2000 delegates present when the convention got underway.

CASH PRIZES GO TO CALVERT WINNERS

All Sects Must Join to Show Way Out of Depression, Says State Official

ONE IS HEARING SO MUCH ABOUT OLD-FASHIONED gardens . . . where is the old-fashioned lover who picked the first cinnamon rose to offer to his lady love . . . ? Do the ghosts of the gallants who bent on knee imploring their fair ladies to smile upon them haunt the flowery paths of these sunlit bowers?

* * *

Do you remember your first proposal? We do, and quite different it was from the way your daughter confesses to you in 1932 of her casual offer of heart and hand.

* * *

Remember Those Cab Rides Around Common

IN THE "OLD-FASHIONED DAYS," GIRLS KNEW their beaux a long, long time before he dared to "ask" her . . . They had perhaps met at Papa Papantie's dancing school, and, when HE became very sweet on her, he would steal her away at suppertime, down those dark stairs . . . can you remember them? . . . whisk her into a cab and hire the cabbie to drive them up Park st., down Beacon, around Boston Common and along Charles st., then back again up Tremont . . . returning just in time for the last dance at the Saturday Evening . . .!

* * *

Of course, he came to call . . . lots of other boys were there, too . . . You all went tobogganing, or sleighing or punging in a huge "pung" . . . who knows what a "pung-ride" is today? . . . but never alone.

* * *

Only Daring Ones Held Hands

AND WHEN SPRING CAME . . . MAY DAYS LIKE these . . . your best beau would take you buggy-riding and when you got away out in the Fenway, perhaps he would hold your hand if he was VERY daring when it grew dark . . . Or perhaps you preferred that he would take you rowing in the Public Gardens between 8 and 9 o'clock . . . this was terribly thrilling . . . while your mother sat with her nose flattened against the purple panes on Beacon st. to see that no improprieties occurred . . . and called you to account if you were a few minutes late in returning. Mothers knew what their daughters were "up to" in those days.

* * *

Can you remember what happened when your escort of the evening did not leave the house by 10 o'clock . . . wasn't it too embarrassing to have father wind the tall clock at the foot of the stairs, or call down from above that "it is getting late, my dear"?

* * *

Family Conference

MANY A FAMILY CONFERENCE was called because your "young man" was calling too frequently and did he have "serious intentions," and you and your family became romantic and all excited because "sister had a beau." He was spoken of as your "sweetheart" . . . imagine calling them sweethearts today. How fidgety you were when his name was mentioned . . . and you both became awkward and ill at ease when you were together among the family . . . He brought you books or a bouquet of old-fashioned flowers . . . and in spite of all, the family all sat around when he called and your younger sister would insist on doing her "practicing" on the square piano in the back parlor.

* * *

Father Reads Aloud

WORSE STILL WAS THE evening when father would insist upon reading aloud as you all sat about the living room table under the hanging kerosene lamp . . . and all you could do was gaze at each other and look away and blush.

* * *

SUNDAY AFTERNOON DID come around as Sunday afternoons will . . . in desperation HE had hired a Goddard buggy to take you to ride, but nothing really "happened" . . . your best girl friend asked all about it next day . . . "What did he say? Did he propose? How did he say it?"

* * *

"WELL," SAYS YOU, "HE stopped the horse in a shady spot . . ." You both sat in silence . . . if you did speak it was about the little moon, which was just appearing over the tree-tops . . . or that it was getting late and you had better be turning home . . . nothing much said, nothing much done, but it was all thrillingly romantic in the '90s . . .

* * *

Asked Father

YOU THOUGHT A LONG, long time about him and he thought a long, long time about you . . . He looked at your mother (girls had mothers in those days and mothers had homes and were in them); he asked your father for your hand . . . fathers and mothers were a large part of a young girl's life in those old-fashioned days . . . ? They all talked it over and, after due consideration, you were allowed to be alone for a while with your "darling" when he called.

* * *

THOSE FUNNY, SHY kisses on the horsehair sofa . . . we can blush for them still . . . and the "yes" whispered in a low, faint voice. A kiss meant an engagement in those days, and woe betide you if it didn't. An engagement meant marriage "till death did you part" . . . a broken engagement was the cause of much sorrow and despair. It took courage.

* * *

Divorce a Disgrace

WHAT A CONTRAST TO the young girl who confessed to us recently that she was going through with it and get a divorce afterward . . . "It was sportier that way." . . . Weddings were such fun . . . it made the rest of the girls envious.

* * *

DIVORCE WAS NOT "TAKEN for granted" when lovers strolled through old-fashioned gardens . . . it was a disgrace, as bad as small-pox. A divorced woman was not "accepted" in polite society and was ostracized from the family circle. She was not even asked to Thanksgiving dinner. And your "young man" would not even mention the word divorce . . . nothing risque like that to his "sweetheart." There was no swapping stories over cocktails . . . you discussed Henry Esmond or the character of Georg Sands . . . she was unspeakable."

* * *

Long Engagements

ENGAGEMENTS OFTEN lasted from three to five years . . . your "young man" had to make his way and you "planned" when you could get married on two thousand or less a year. It was kept a sacred secret for months before it was announced.

* * *

THE WEDDING WAS A family affair . . . not an excuse for entertaining. You invited the friends you really knew . . . there was no pomp, no parade . . . no excuse to ask people you WANTED to know. Champagne was as important as the bride and everyone joined in dancing the Portland Fancy in the back parlor . . . or on the lawn. The neighbors came . . . and in a shower of REAL rice you drove off in a hired hack on a REAL honeymoon.

WHY BRING BACK THE old-fashioned gardens without the old-fashioned people who belong in them?

SHIRTS, SKIRTS FOR SPORT

Golf Costumes are Cool, Workmanlike

By DOROTHY ROE

New York, May 26—Shirts and skirts are about the neatest solution offered for the summer sports clothes problem.

Our best-dressed golfers this season will be seen on the links in cool, workmanlike outfits of mannish shirts tucked into nice, fitted skirts, both of them with enough room to allow plenty of freedom for those long drives that take you straight down the fairway.

Silk shirting will be one of the most popular fabrics for these practical outfits. In tiny pin checks of vari-colored stripes. It washes and washes and comes up smiling.

Our old friend gingham also is all to the good for shirts and skirts, looking very dashing in red or blue or brown and white checks.

And then there's the cotton mesh, which now comes in colored checks as well as white and pastel solid colors, and is the coolest most comfortable thing ever designed for a tea gown.

Some of the shirts have round collarless necks, buttoning down the front in a thoroughly practical manner. All of them have pockets usually two of them. For holding tees and powder puffs and what not. And most of them have an inverted pleat in back to allow greater freedom of movement, besides looking most swanky.

Other shirt styles have polo collars, worn open at the throat, or, if you will be formal, buttoned up and finished off with a four-in-hand tie.

A white wide-wale pique skirt worn with a washable silk crepe shirt of a deep bright blue is one of the smartest combinations of the season.

MISS THERESA COOLIDGE IS FIRST DEBUTANTE OF NEW SEASON

Garden Scene of Initial Tea for Bud

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Lowell Coolidge of 30 Holyoke st. Cambridge are presenting their attractive brunette daughter, Miss Theresa Coolidge, at a tea today.

This is the first debutante affair for next season's debs so all the buds of next winter, post debs, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and Harvard boys gather today in the lovely Coolidge garden. The tea is from 4 until 7 o'clock with dancing.

Miss Coolidge wears a pink marquisette gown of lace while Mrs. Coolidge is wearing green chiffon.

The colorful garden makes a beautiful setting for Mrs. Coolidge and her daughter to receive. The flowers in the garden are in full bloom and the shrubs just beginning to flower. The bud and her mother stand in front of a bridal wreath tree to receive their many friends. There are no pourers but a number of Miss Coolidge's friends will be there to assist.

Miss Coolidge was graduated from Miss Winsor's school this spring.

BOOKS—and a Number of Things

By Charles Hanson Towne

At this time of year, when college terms are about ending, it is interesting to note that classes continue to vote on various candidates for this and that honor.

I cannot quite see what good is accomplished. A certain student is solemnly acclaimed by his fellows as "the best dressed man." Meeting him at some reunion several years later, perhaps, those who thus honored him will note his almost careless, if not slovenly, appearance. Or, perhaps even more likely, he will have striven to live up to the reputation he achieved, and in consequence will be a flop. It is bad business either way you look at it.

That is not half so hard, however, as achieving the reputation of being "the best natured man" of one's class. Think of carrying that exaggerated quality all through one's later life! It is hardly fair to any human being thus to be designated. A member of the class of '32 might conceivably call upon Algernon in '46 at his busy office, and, catching him in the midst of many vexing tasks, discover that the old good nature had completely vanished.

The perpetual ringing of telephones will spoil anyone's poise and disposition in a short time. Algernon is another of the disappointments in after years. But in the back of his head there remains eternally the thought that he was once considered a pleasant, low-spoken senior, and even the rough winds of the world should not ruffle his calm.

As time passes and he faces the stern realities of life he grows cross, if not positively petulant; and so he dreads attending reunions, lest his fall from grace be discovered. The mask can never be lifted. He must smilingly wear it wherever he goes. One grows to pity the Algernons of one's youth.

* * *

But it is an even more miserable handicap to be labeled "the most brilliant man." Such a fellow, starting out with high percentages in Greek and Latin and calculus, often will find himself, poor wretch, ending up by trying to sell insurance—to his former classmates. For life has many ironical twists and such a topsy-turvy finish has often been observed.

There is something almost ludicrous in the way we are swept downward instead of upward. The "handsomest man" loses his good looks in no time, the "most brilliant" fails in literature, his chosen calling, and the "hardest worker" through perpetual discouragement becomes a drone. The "best athlete" is forced into sedentary occupation, as wife and family require the dollars that an indoor job alone can bring, and the "most scholarly" finds that scholarship does not pay in the heat and fever of Wall Street, where he finally finds himself after barren years of teaching at some small university in the hinterlands.

Edison's "brightest boy" has disappeared long since from the news. One trembles for his future. Let us hope he will survive and overcome that early handicap. But it is dangerous to be catalogued, bracketed, tucked away with a ticket on one's ambitious chest.

* * *

There was a boy I knew at school who won the reputation for possessing the greatest amount of "general knowledge." He reveled in the acclaim it brought him. Yet he was tongue tied if you pinned him down to any given subject. He spouted only platitudes. He had a crumb of this and that, but of solid information he had little or none at all. Fragments and flashes of high-sounding talk he possessed in abundance, but he was notoriously weak on French irregular verbs and the German dative case.

He fooled every one, including himself, for many years. The last I heard of him he had become a lecturer on the Chautauqua circuit, and he was fairly good when he was heckled once at a political meeting. But he just missed. He didn't "jell." He didn't measure up beside the specialists—and this is an era of specialization.

* * *

Those who capture prizes in early youth usually fail to win awards in later life. The plodder finally outdistances them. It is the old story of the tortoise and the hare, I suppose.

And yet—Tennyson won an award for poetry when he was at school, and the world heard a great deal of him in after years. Which discounts all one's prophecies.

Perhaps after all there is somewhere among those students thus smartly and definitely labeled one who will emerge deserving of the reputation he has made. One likes to think that is the way it will be, anyhow. But the green firecracker in the pack generally makes no noise at all.

Bill Quits Gay Life and Takes Job on Sugar Plantation at Nevis' Urgent Plea

A ROOF AND NO RENT

A roof and no rent [illegible] looks pretty good to me [illegible]

[illegible] responded Bill [illegible]

Mr. B[illegible] said: "You needn't explain. Simes talked to me. Perhaps you are being sensible. There'll be a job for you when you come back, if you do and want it." He added to Simes: "It's just as well [illegible] we have to cut down expenses and it will take more than personality to sell even gilt-edged bonds for a while." He added that he understood that statistics [illegible] the average of eight thousand-dollar-per-head buyers had been reduced to three and would go lower.

[illegible]

Mort said thoughtfully: "You may be right. I don't know." And Dotty said, alone with Nevis: "I don't know what it's all about but I seem to perceive monkey wrenches. Well, you know what you're doing. I'm for you."

OFF ON THE BOAT

[illegible]

[illegible] Not so hot. Or rather too hot. Over the kitchen. We'll chuck what little cash we have left into a really decent cabin and bath."

"It's for such a short time," expostulated Nevis.

"It doesn't matter. Why travel like cattle? Blow the last cent, sez me, and arrive in comfort and style. Not knowing what's ahead of us, I propose to provide some really Ritz-Carlton baked funeral meats," said Bill.

[illegible]

PASSAGE WAS ROUGH

[illegible] Not by accident.

[illegible] "Oh," said the wife fluently, "so you're going to live here? How perfectly fascinating. How I envy you!"

[illegible] Frank Gifford [illegible] a couple of million dollars [illegible] the West Indies [illegible] wife would move [illegible] Park ave. duplex.

"Palm trees," said Nevis, as they went to the boat, "aren't they marvelous. I wonder if I'd ever tire of them!"

The boat took them to Ponce. B[illegible] said: "I understand there's a swell motor road from San Juan to Ponce [illegible] we'll have to take the trip, some day."

DON'T use harsh, unsanitary handkerchiefs! Doctors advise KLEENEX Disposable Tissues

MOTHER, surely you wouldn't use a partly soiled handkerchief for baby. Not since Kleenex has been made so wonderfully inexpensive.

Baby skin is so sensitive. And the nasal passages are so susceptible to infection. A slight infection which a healthy grown-up would hardly notice, may prove fatal to a baby.

So take the simple precaution of using always a fresh Kleenex Tissue for baby's handkerchiefs, bibs and napkins. This sanitary habit not only protects your child, but saves a lot of washing.

Kleenex is simply destroyed after use. You can use several Kleenex Tissues for the price of having one handkerchief laundered!

Kleenex is available at any drug, dry goods or department store.

As far back as your grandmother can remember . .

▲ ▲ beans and brown bread have been the traditional feast for Saturday night throughout New England. And almost as far back as your grandmother can remember, Friend's Beans and Brown Bread have been the standard of superiority.

There's a sound, fundamental reason for the superiority of Friend's, too . . . they are baked hours and hours in old-fashioned brick ovens, just the way your grandmother's grandmother used to bake them in the good old days.

EARHART FLIGHT PROVES LITTLE ABOUT WOMEN

By GILBERT SELDES

GILBERT SELDES

IT CAN'T BE OF GREAT IMPORTANCE but for the sake of the record I cast a dissenting vote on the motion that Miss Amelia Earhart's achievement is proof of equality between men and women, proof of the courage of women, their persistence, intelligence, or [illegible]. The proof seems to me to be concentrated on Miss Earhart: her courage, intelligence, and if you wish, equality are well established. It remains to her glory and her sex may be proud of her [illegible] women [illegible] proud of anything they themselves have done and why they should be prouder of their daughters than of their sons, I do not know. For me, [illegible] Miss Earhart [illegible] a single [illegible] we [illegible] not entitled to [illegible] any tribute to ourselves.

Nor Lindbergh

I am not quite stupid enough to miss the point of the "glory" to "womanhood" line. It goes back to the arrogance of the male, to his persistent assertion that men are not only different from but superior to, women. The sexual solidarians will not refrain from pointing out that Lindbergh did the same thing and flew farther exactly five years ago, as if the breakdown of a manifold exhaust (whatever that may be on an airplane) was a caprice of femininity. But the argument outlined above works both ways, and men who haven't the courage to walk a [illegible] the street in the dark or to vote for "the wrong man" ought not to take pride in Lindbergh. It was not to demonstrate the superiority of the male that he flew; nor to disprove it that Miss Earhart followed.

Freemen in Baseball

This is the [illegible] season for [illegible] more interested in the Babe's [illegible] or recovery than in the assertion of human [illegible] on the ball field. It is left for those who can take baseball and [illegible] to point out the significance of an event which the sporting pages [illegible] the rule of the National League forbidding players to [illegible] has been rescinded.

In a [illegible] of baseball [illegible] was made [illegible] Al Capone. Mr. [illegible] but not [illegible] apparently the player agreed with Capone's opinion of [illegible] of the United States [illegible] the seal of his bat [illegible] the public's approval on the well known tax dodger, the player signed [illegible].

Public Enemies?

It is my opinion that several [illegible] people in the United States would not only have signed anything for Al Capone at that time but would have enjoyed his company in their homes. (I dreamed he called on me once but the resultant fusillade of bullets turned out to be only backfire.) Yet baseball even then was [illegible].

It is, of course, the hope of the club owners that their players will choose more carefully in the future but the right of pitcher, catcher, [illegible] to talk to the riff raff in the grandstands has been restored. America breathes more easily. The Civil Liberties Union did not have to go to court. Freedom of speech wins!

But the [illegible] of baseball is not dead. [illegible] their mortal enemies on the cheek as they pass. [illegible] want us very much to believe that baseball is not a game [illegible] for money, but a war for glory.

* * *

Mr. Sharkey Boasts

I saw some movies of a pugilist [illegible] heard the Bronx cheer [illegible] about me. Mr. Sharkey [illegible] statesmen on the screen [illegible] He said that he had picked out a spot upon which he would, after a certain number of rounds, lay his opponent flat. Mr. Sharkey, I gather, is well known for his confidence. He promised moreover that it would not be a foul.

I thought confidence of this sort was [illegible] and wonder why Mr. Sharkey [illegible] by movie fans. Is it possible that the [illegible] gentleman fighter [illegible] weakened the fibre of America? Are we to have polite sissies who will say that their opponents are great fighters who will promise merely to do their best and hope that the better man will win? I hope not. Such an attitude would bring prize fighting back to the category of [illegible] and fencing [illegible].

PETITION

TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:

We, the undersigned citizens, believing that a Prosperity Loan bond issue of $5,000,000,000 for needed public works is the only economical, sound and certain relief for the unemployment problem, the only sure and quick way to relieve the business depression, and avoid greater suffering throughout the nation in this crisis, do hereby petition the Congress to enact the necessary legislation immediately

(Circulate among your friends, and at meetings. When filled return to Petition Editor, Boston Evening American, Boston, Mass.)

WOMEN'S CLUB LEADER TELLS OF LOAN NEED

[illegible]

Mrs. Ford Hanscom [illegible] Women's Club [illegible] WAAB [illegible]

The only way on which the nation may be led back from the barren wastes of depression into the green pastures of a new and greater prosperity [illegible]

"The only true basis for prosperity is steady employment for every working man and woman," she began. "There must be stimulation of employment through a program of increased construction of public buildings by the federal Government. Such a plan would result in the employment of nearly a million people and the expense would be about five billion dollars.

"This is the means of relief sponsored by William Randolph Hearst with the support and indorsement of leaders in business and political fields in all parts of the country. The advantages of such a plan are apparent enough to require little explanation."

Shields Sees Big Boon in Prosperity Loan Plan

[illegible] address over station WAAB, John J. Shields, director of unemployment for the city of Boston, [illegible] for not [illegible] dependent on them, were out of work.

The solution, Shields said last [illegible] Prosperity Bond [illegible]

"With such a program of public construction in force, 75 per cent of our unemployed people of Boston would be returned to work," he declared.

MAJORITY UNSKILLED

As employment director of Boston, Shields has found more jobs for [illegible] men than any other man in New England. [illegible] he revealed the [illegible] of Boston's unemployed are hard workers [illegible]

MILLIONS FOR CHARITY

"Were it not for the people of moderate circumstances who have given odd jobs to the fellowman in distress and for the heroic and productive Give-a-Job campaign conducted by the Boston Evening American in conjunction with the employment bureau, the bad conditions would be intolerably worse," he said.

"In 1931," he declared, "the overseers of the poor for the city of Boston expended $7,000,000. In 1932 we are spending at the rate of $12,000,000 a year for public charity. No city can go on indefinitely with these vast expenditures for charity.

"The meritorious program for relief of the country and the restoration of normal times has been recommended to the national government by Mr. William Randolph Hearst through his Five Billion Dollar Prosperity Bond Issue. Cities and towns should be enabled to borrow money for public construction at reasonable interest rates in order to unite fully with this national problem."

LYNN FAVORS FIVE-BILLION LOAN PLAN

Hundreds of men and women of Lynn are in favor of the $5,000,000,000 loan plan advocated by William Randolph Hearst. In Central sq., Lynn, advocates of the plan are shown signing petitions which will be sent to Congress.

MEDFORD CITY BUYER QUITS

[illegible] Fitzpatrick, city purchasing agent of Medford, tendered his resignation to Mayor Burke today because of departmental friction arising over the mayor's insistence that a city contract go to a [illegible] the lowest.

The contract involved the purchase of 11 chasses for ash and garbage trucks. William S. Lacy & Son of Medford, was low bidder by $680, but the mayor ordered that Perrin, Walsh Co., of Cambridge, [illegible]

[illegible] wrote the mayor [illegible] tendered his resignation [illegible] at the mayor's [illegible] the mayor was [illegible] a statement of his own position later.

Mayor Burke accepted the resignation, effective tonight, and appointed ex-Alderman Louis J. [illegible] as acting purchasing agent.

AWARDS GREATER THIS YEAR

These awards are worth working for too—the word of last year's winners can be accepted for that. Two Massachusetts boys [illegible] of Springfield—attended the annual Guild convention in Detroit in August, as guests of the Guild, and also received purses in cash.

The two runners-up were awarded $50 each and their models were taken to Detroit as part of the national Guild display.

There will also be 16 special cash awards, ranging from $15 to $25, equally divided among the boys of both divisions who excel in woodcraft, metal craft, paint craft and trim craft.

In addition to all these awards The Boston Evening American will present to the outstanding coach-builder in its territory a handsome silver loving cup.

THE VOICE OF BROADWAY

Advice to a Young Man!

Get a pot of paste and a pair of shears
And the magazines and papers
And you'll ever win resounding cheers
For your clever social capers.
If you'll learn to clip every clever quip
That you see in print, my hearty,
You will win acclaim and enduring fame
As the Life of any Party.

Get a pair of shears and a pot of paste,
Also loose-leaf books aplenty,
And you'll always find yourself embraced
By the half-baked cognoscenti.
From the daily news take the latest views
Of celebrities who've awed you,
In a knowing way say the thing they say
And the public will applaud you.

With a pot of paste and a pair of shears
In your desk or kitchen cupboard
You'll be knighted by your mental peers
As a second Elbert Hubbard.
If you'll treat yourself to a Five Foot Shelf,
If you'll scan all printed pages,
Very soon, my son, you'll be hailed as one
Of the Twentieth Century Sages!

In Explanation:

"Dear Mr. Sobol," writes Robert E. Mr. Richards could only have made that statement because of not being informed—or having received misinformation. The fact is that many complications, legal and otherwise, have precluded the possibility of closing up James Gordon Bennett's financial affairs. Mr. Bennett left annuities amounting to approximately $150,000 a year. Those have to be paid as prescribed in the will. As the president of the James Gordon Bennett Memorial Home for New York Newspapermen, I can state that we have paid to needy, infirm and aged newspapermen $250,000 in cash, and during last year, 1931, we paid to newspapermen as described $25,915. We have on our list the names of 45 newspapermen who are receiving monthly payments from Mr. Bennett's money. All the newspapers have printed articles showing to what good purposes Mr. Bennett's money has been put to alleviate men suffering difficulties through no fault of their own during the last few years as I was for 22 years connected with the New York Herald I can assure you that everything is being done and will be done to carry out the requirements of Mr. Bennett's wishes."

AUTO SALES GAIN, BUT PROFITS DECREASE

By B. C. FORBES

PRESIDENT A. P. SLOAN [illegible]

"With conditions existing as they do at the moment, and with the unusual difficulty of looking forward and determining the necessities of the future, it is more important than ever that the finances of the corporation be maintained in a position of impregnable strength.

The trend in sales during April improved, in fact, in excess of the normal seasonal improvement.

"However, it is hardly logical to expect any lasting change in the trend until a foundation has been built for improvement in confidence and for the return, at least to a degree, of purchasing power.

The future will surely offer as many and as great opportunities for constructive effort for profit and industrial improvement as have ever existed in the past.

—SPECTATOR— Says:

Good news absent and liquidation persistent. The same old story explained the new decline in the market. Stocks were just pressed for sale for whatever they would bring. Support was conspicuous by its absence. The key to the situation is still Washington, and until Congress kicks in with a balanced budget, little but a technical rally is possible.

LEADERS GIVE VIEWS ABOUT TAXATION

By FRANK H. MELOON

Interesting copy is furnished us today of the Platform of American Industry for 1932. It is drawn by representative manufacturers from all parts of the country under the auspices of the National Association of Manufacturers. President [illegible]

F. H. Willard

* * *

On the subject of taxation, the platform has this to say:

"Constructive plans for financial stabilization cannot be organized until our National, State and Municipal Governments not only balance their budgets, but curtail their current expenses as well to a level which can be steadily and economically maintained for some years to come. The ever-increasing cost of nonessential services and functions, extravagance and waste have put a burden of additional taxation upon our people which is already insupportable."

Exchange Member Gets Suspension

New York, May 26 (AP)—New York Stock Exchange took its most drastic action today against a member for bear activity this far in the 2 year decline.

Dean Manning McKeon, a private floor trader, was suspended for one year under provisions of the constitution forbidding the offering of stock in a manner designed to demoralize the market.

The announcement said that although McKeon's offers were not accepted and did not cause a decline in prices, he was found guilty of the charges by the governing committee.

—STATE ST.— Hears:

That some interests are looking for a rally. However, they do not feel it will arise through any change in the fundamental position. With few exceptions the market, after establishing a new low, has rallied back to former downside resistance. Until some constructive steps are taken at Washington this is all the financial community can expect.

LEADERS RALLY IN LATE WALL ST. TRADING

New York, May 26—The stock market in Wall Street reversed itself and rallied briskly in the afternoon today, following news ticker reports of possible revival of the general sales tax in Congress.

The turnover was the largest in weeks, approximating 2,000,000 shares, and the late tone was strong.

TOBACCO CUTS LOSS

An extreme loss of 5 points in American Tobacco "B" was sharply reduced, and a number of shares recovered to show net gains of 1 to 2 points, including American Can, American Telephone, Dupont, U. S. Steel, Union Pacific, Woolworth and Atchison.

Earlier trading saw a steady drizzle of selling.

Stocks of companies which have done especially well during the past two years were offered quite freely, holders apparently taking advantage of their better marketability to raise cash at relatively less sacrifice.

Tobacco issues were conspicuous in this group, extreme losses of two to over four points occurring in American Tobacco, Liggett & Myers and R. J. Reynolds issues.

In four transactions a total of 25,000 shares of Reynolds "B" stock changed hands, this liquidation presumably being to protect marginal accounts.

Food stocks were also offered in fairly large volume at losses of 1 to over 2 points in Borden, National Biscuit, General Foods and Corn Products.

The Senate's approval of a tax on soft drinks was followed by a flurry of selling in Coca Cola and other issues featuring that classification.

Railroad stocks also bowed to the combination of recent unfavorable reports on earnings and, in a measure, to discussions over refinancing a $20,727,750 St. Louis Southwestern bond issue maturing June 1.

The spectre of another possible receivership in the railroad field caused some misgivings, although the market showed no signs of surprise or hysteria.

PRESSURE ON UTILITIES

Public utilities were under pressure with new lows set.

New York Stock Exchange's action in suspending a private trader again called attention to efforts of that institution to keep short selling under control. The exchange took its disciplinary action under a constitutional clause, inserted in 1925 and never used before today, to punish a member held guilty of violating a prohibition against the purchase or sale of securities for purposes of upsetting the equilibrium of the market.

The dollar displayed a steady undertone in the foreign exchange market and dealers reported that transactions were quiet.

Pennsylvania R. R. stockholders numbered 249,228 May 1, an increase of 904 over April 1. The average per stockholder reached a new low at 52.81 shares. Shares outstanding were 13,162,775.

Smaller Wheat Crop Is Federal Forecast

Washington, May 26 (INS)—Early indications suggest the likelihood of a somewhat smaller wheat crop in the northern hemisphere outside Russia and China and a slightly smaller carry-over, so that wheat supplies during the current summer appear likely to be less burdensome than they were last year, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics said today in discussing world wheat prospects.

Not only are the carry-over and the northern hemisphere crop outside Russia and China likely to be smaller than last year, but it appears that smaller supplies are to be expected from Russia.

Boston & Maine's Report Shows Operating Efficiency Up

Boston & Maine Railroad in April earned a net income of $92,282.40, after fixed charges, which compares with net income of $352,230.16 in April, 1931.

Despite a decline in revenues during April of $1,226,106.79, as compared with April, 1931, the figures show an outstanding result in operations of the road in that the ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues was 72.81, as compared with 72.29 for April, 1931.

The decline in freight revenues for the month was $831,120.79, or 23.6 per cent, and the decline in passenger revenues was $277,265.54, or 30.8 per cent.

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK

One of the better devices exhibited at the International Patent Exhibition is a fishing rod equipped with a bell which rings to warn the fisherman that he has a fish.

What fun! Imagine being disturbed by a bell and finding you have a fish, instead of a Fuller Brush salesman.

* * *

But as we see it, fishing will never be an entirely satisfactory form of relaxation until all rods are equipped with bells to warn the fish.

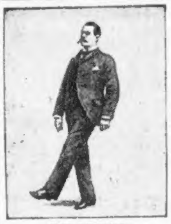
FRISBY IN MOOD TO COMPROMISE



OUR LEADER

Congressman Frisby, who is engaged in an exhaustive straw vote to sound out public sentiment in regard to the future of the human race, last night issued the following statement—

"I have been approached by several prominent members of influential Nudist Societies, and asked to come out flat footed in favor of personal liberty. While I appreciate the honor of leading this movement, and would not do anything intentionally to offend these good people, I must also take care not to annoy the clothing business, which is one of our key industries. I think if I was a clothing merchant and a prominent Congressman needed a two pants suit I would think twice before I would let him unconsciously become the idol of a lot of the Nudist radicals. Some people have to be kicked by a horse before they know which side of their bread is buttered. If the shoe fits, wear it."

TAX GOUGERS DEFIED BY VICTIM

This is the 24th in a series of articles exposing the tax collection racket which is fattening the pockets of constables and victimizing reputable citizens of Massachusetts.

The Leominster woman, mother of 13 children, who complained that constables kept her husband in Worcester jail two days for an overdue tax bill, leaving her and the children without food, reports that the "boys" have been bothering her since she made that statement.

She says they have been trying to make her retract her story, but that she has refused because what she said was the truth. She says she cannot afford a lawyer but wished she could fight them. The Boston Evening American intends to keep in close touch with this case and to serve warning that no public official has the right to molest a woman who has paid not only the tax but a heavy penalty and holds a receipt for the same.

RECEIVES VISIT

Such methods tend to corroborate her original story of the ruthless methods used in the case of her husband. Here is her latest letter:

"The letter published on May 11, taken from the letter I sent to you on tax collection racket, has worked up our tax collector so that he paid me a visit today. He says he is going to make you take back that statement. Now don't take back anything, as I have the receipt for the $19.90 that I paid to get my husband out of jail.

"My statements to you are all right. They are trying to make me take them back, but I won't.

"If they bring me to court I won't like it, but I will go. I can't afford a lawyer, but I will go anyhow so I am telling you they are really mad at both you and me. They asked me if I wrote to the editor and I said yes, and if you came here I would have given you a better statement.

ONLY POOR SUFFER

"He said 'The Boston American is going to take this back and so are you.' But do not take anything you said back. You printed what was in my letter. I told him he was sore because it hurt him. He had the paper of May 11 and he is trying to make me deny what I said.

"It was the best thing ever done. It is a good thing that they be rounded up and get them down to accept what is right.

"The poor are the only ones they are doing this to. So we will wait until they make us take back our statement. I have my receipt. If I thought it would not be lost I would send it in for you to see. I wish I could afford a lawyer I'd fight them, but no one wants to do anything for nothing.

"Well hoping they do not frighten the editor any more than they did me, I remain,

Mrs. ———

Leominster, Mass.

A disabled World War veteran writes from Leominster:

"Tax Editor:

"Do I have to pay the old age pension tax? I am a disabled World War veteran, have done no work since the war and am receiving compensation from the government that is the only income I receive. Kindly let me know?"

QUINCY VICTIM

A citizen in Quincy writes:

"You name it right when you called it the 'Tax Racket.' The word 'lawful' should go with it. I was forced to pay $12 for a $2 poll tax to a Mr. Casey of Wollaston.

"I was not working and had no money, but this man threatened to throw me in jail so I had to borrow the money on a loan on my furniture which I am paying 3 per cent interest on yet.

"Only for my children I would have let him put me in jail, but I don't like scandal. Please do not print my name."

Here's a complaint from Chelsea:

"Tax Editor:

"I had a part-time job and George Roberts came in and took me to the Charles st. jail and I lost my job and besides I had to pay $15.25 that night before I could get out, for my $2 tax bill.

"I was not working so could not pay it before.

P. S.—I do not know the date but it is on the record at Charles st. jail and the funny part of it was, you don't get any receipt for your money. Please do not print my name."

Another instalment in the Boston Evening American's investigation of the tax collection scandal will be published tomorrow.

New York, May 26 (INS)—Carrying the battle-torn flag used in many bitter martial engagements, John Early, 88, will lead a parade of the only 42 surviving Civil War veterans in New York on Memorial Day.

Early said today he would walk the full length of the demonstration up Riverside drive to the soldiers' and sailors' monument. Most of the other veterans will ride.

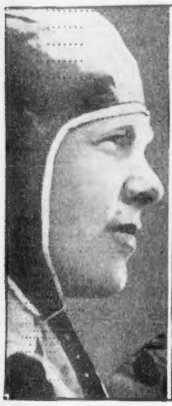
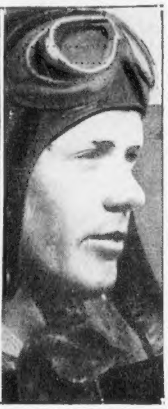
Amelia and Lindy

Much Alike in Looks and Modest Charm



MRS. PUTNAM



COL. LINDBERGH

There is a striking facial resemblance between the two Lone Eagles of the air—Charles A. Lindbergh and Amelia Earhart Putnam.

As you study their photographs you will notice that they have in common the clear, steady eye which denotes fixity of purpose and the resolute jaw which denotes courage and determination.

Moreover, they each possess the simple charm of modesty which is the attribute of great characters and of great characters only.

Lindy captivated Europe and America not more by his intrepid solo flight across the sea than by the ease and modesty with which he wore the magnificent honors and testimonials showered upon him.

Amelia made the rounds of the London shops with no more affectation that she would make her ordinary purchases along Tremont Street of a Wednesday afternoon.

She paid her respects to royalty which their stations command, but with none of the sloppy fawning and cringing which makes some of our noveau riche despised in the salons of Europe.

Now she tells us that she wants us, who are her own, not to make any ostentatious fuss over her when she comes back to her native America.

She would forego the costly civic demonstrations, which the taxpayers pay. Rather, she would have the money diverted to the care of the needy and unemployed.

We who know and admire Amelia, who has lived among us here in Boston, realize that there is no "playing to the gallery" by her in this simple suggestion. She is her own sweet, natural self, genuinely interested in the welfare of those "who walk humbly down the highway of life."

Well, dear girl, your request is just not going to be obeyed in this instance.

You are deserving of a whale of a reception, not alone for your remarkable flight across the ocean, with all the perils of that flight, but for the true gentility you have shown in your hour of greatness and acclaim.

All the money in the exchequer of Boston could not buy a splendid, affectionate reception for you. The warmth and spontaneity of a great reception will come from the hearts of the people, who admire you and hold you in the highest esteem.

Therefore, we expect Mayor Curley to bend every effort to prevail upon you to come back to Boston as soon as you land on these shores again. Boston's people want just a chance to give you the big hand you merit.

Obsolete Fire Alarms

Why should a fire alarm necessarily be alarming? Just because flames spring up somewhere, men, women and children are assailed by the most hideous gongs, whistles and clanging imaginable.

The effect of such horrid din is that the nerves and adrenal glands become half paralyzed with fear. Panic is evoked and efficiency is lowered. And all because some rags are ablaze or a chimney chooses to flame.

Instead of alarms, the National Fire Protection Association proposes signals. It is promulgating a device that will release not fear but loud and stirring music. A Sousa march, or "The Road to Damascus," say, will do the trick beautifully. It will inspire firemen to spring from bed with vim at 5 in the morning, and school children to leave buildings in military step.

This is sound psychology.

The First Thriller

With impatience the world awaits word from Chicago on Gilgamesh. The Field Museum of that city reports that its searchers in Mesopotamia have found a 4000-year-old tablet bearing fifty missing lines of the epic of which this ancient was the hero.

Gilgamesh was a considerable man in his day. In early Babylonia he reigned for 126 years. Though his health was sound, he did quite a bit of traveling. On one extended vacation he met up with no less distinguished a person than Noah and secured from him the full details of the Flood.

He made from them Babylonia's most beautiful and impressive poem, and the story—to be pieced out by this tablet—is the oldest adventure tale in the world. He did the carving himself, between armed exploits. It proves that the pen—or, in Gilgamesh's case, the chisel—is mightier than the sword. Though a little late, Chicago gets this author's first serial rights.

New York Day by Day

Carnival Glitter

NEW YORK, May 26—The honky-tonk tempo of that sybaritic stretch of West 42d street, stretching from Times Square to 8th avenue, has given what was once the heart of the Rialto a street carnival glitter. It sways and thunders with the cry of the barker and the yank of the puller-in.

Along the strip is perhaps New York's best known playhouse, the New Amsterdam, long home of the Follies. West 42d street's decadence set in about eight years ago when a flea circus combined with a museum of "strange people" lodged there and became the rotting speck in the apple barrel.

Cheap-john shops and take-joints seeped in. The famous Murray's, with revolving dance floor, was supplanted by one-arm beaneries. Sedate stores became auction rooms with window demonstrations and a pavement ballyhoo. Even a medicine show tom-tommed a tape-worm destroyer.

The Republic, housing the longest run in history, "Abie's Irish Rose," went cheaply burlesque and featured "strip acts." Two other theaters of erstwhile respectability took a similar nose dive. A playhouse where Marlowe starred specialized in thrillers with "Eliza-crossing-the-ice" music.

The New Amsterdam, George White's Apollo, the Selwyn, and one or two others continue with class attractions, but the rest cater to vulgarians. Rents have sagged and respectable producers are searching for new locations. Property owners are now trying to lock their stables after the horses are gone.

After midnight furtives hawk obscene postcards from doorways. Ladies stop at windows in expectant waits. Columbus Circle dope sellers have a new pasture. And nighthawks of the taxis whisper addresses of houses-of-call. As Eddie, the Times Square newsie put it: "They've certainly loused up a good block."

One of the sly optimists is a gentleman whose Cuban sugar bonds are in default. In a mad effort to restore coupon payments he sneaks lumps of cafe sugar into his pockets to toss in the sewers.

George M. Cohan tiffed with the late Robert Hilliard a few months before the latter's passing. Hilliard, a matinee idol for 40 years, was removed from a Cohan play and threatened suit. Cohan whined: "The trouble with you, Bob, is you are stage struck."

* * *

A police official tells me the little bonfires lit at night in the streets of Hell's Kitchen, especially west of 42d street, are signals to dope peddlers that customers wait. One block there is dubbed Jitter Alley.

* * *

Tin Pan Alley is flowering again. The song publishing business was gobbled up by the movie industry in the boom days, but is now sitting up and taking notice. Irving Berlin's establishment, over old Churchill's, was about the only one left when the tunemakers trekked to Hollywood. It is said that only three have amassed permanent fortunes out of song writing—Irving Berlin, Jerome Kern and Buddy De Sylva. For the remainder, it was come easy, go easy.

* * *

The drab army of sandwich men now have a lady recruit, a good looking blonde who carries the banner for a gown shop along the library wall. In many ways she's a ringer for Frances Williams of the stage. I tried to talk to her the other afternoon and she left me neck deep in a mounting blush. But the villain still pursued her! Later she explained: "So many guys try to get new." She further added that printing her name would humiliate several very dear to her, and I believe her. Anyway, it's her business.

For the first time in the history of Broadway a legitimate theater is displaying a "To Let" sign. It flutters from the facade of the Criterion 49th.

The vicissitudes of an ornate movie cathedral recall Corinne Griffith's thrust when asked how she liked it at the grand opening. "Horrible" she fumed. "It's like a new tooth—all gold."

Nothing is so obvious as a husband pining for a night out. The wife of a friend confides that when he stands before a mirror brushing his hair and yawns, "I think I'll hit the hay early"—she knows he will round in with the milkman.

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

Career or Marriage?

WHY DO GIRLS prefer careers to marriage?

Why do brides desert the home, go back to the job?

BECAUSE MARRIED WOMEN KNOCK MARRIAGE! BECAUSE WIVES, THEMSELVES, GIVE THE HOME A BLACK EYE!

Elsie Robinson

That's E. W. S.'s answer to the question, "WHICH MEANS MOST TO THE MODERN WOMAN—MARRIAGE OR A CAREER?" And then she gives the story which lies behind that answer. It may startle you. It will certainly make you think.

A motherless girl, drudging through childhood on a farm, scrambling together an education out of scraps of opportunity; then, with her first job, release from that ugly slavery. A taste of freedom. A grasp at beauty. It was Paradise! How she worked, sacrificed, battled to get ahead!

Reading her letter, a million other girls would remember the ache and terror of their own first battles, share her thrill when she at last achieved a really big job.

"How I loved it!" she cries. "That big office; the clicking typewriters; the noise of the adding machines, and every now and then the Big Boss hurrying through, and the tingling stir of excitement as we whisper, 'Wonder what's wrong?'"

A passionately treasured life of work, and freedom, and unfolding adventure. What it must have meant to her! Yet it could not hold her when The Man came.

"Five years ago," she writes, "but I remember it as if it was yesterday. Those magic moonlight nights when we swam or lay together on the sand, talking, dreaming—hours of pure, undiluted happiness. Never had there been a love like ours.

"So we were married. I had chosen marriage, instead of a career. And now I suppose the ending should be, 'So they lived happily ever after.' But we didn't. And here's why. And I wish you could broadcast it until every married woman on earth hears my story.

"WE DIDN'T STAY HAPPY BECAUSE I LET THE LIES AND WHINES, AND SNEERS OF OTHER WIVES SPOIL MY LOVE, WEAKEN MY COURAGE, WRECK MY HOME."

For a few months after marriage she worked until the home was paid for. Then, when she knew the baby was coming, she gladly gave up her job, and then the trouble started.

"All the other mothers I knew began to wail, 'Why on earth did you leave such a nice job to have a baby? Think of what it will cost. You'll never have any more fun. You won't be able to get any new dresses any more, and you'll have to stay at home and lose your shape and complexion. And every one knows that no man stays faithful when he's got a tired, homely wife and a squally baby at home.'

"So it didn't take me long to decide that I was a fool to give up my job and my youth for all the misery and suffering of having a child, and I, too, became peevish, discontented. I raved, cried, whined and moaned, and finally, when the baby was three months old, I left my husband and went home. Today—bitter, cynical, all because I let those selfish, silly, loafing wives poison my mind.

"Yes, I see it now, when it's too late. But that won't bring my husband back. I've killed his faith forever, and broken my own heart for now I know I loved him better than anything on earth. God knows I'd give all the careers, all the freedom and fun and fame, to have him again for just one hour, to work with him and for him, to endure any hardship. But it's too late.

"OH, WHY DO WOMEN KNOCK THEIR OWN GAME? WHY DO THEY SNEER AT THE BEAUTY OF LOVE, JUST BECAUSE IT MEANS A LITTLE WORK AND SACRIFICE?

"WHY DO THEY TELL A YOUNG GIRL ALL ABOUT THE SUFFERING AND NEVER TELL HER OF THE DEEP SINGING PEACE SHE WILL KNOW WHEN SHE HOLDS HER BABY IN HER ARMS AND OF THE PRIDE SHE CAN FEEL WORKING BESIDE HER HUSBAND?

"WHY, OH WHY, ARE MARRIED WOMEN SUCH TRAITORS?"

Why, indeed! I'm handing it on to them, Evelyn. Perhaps they'll answer for themselves.

Just Folks

Back to Old Days

They want to get married some day! Ah, me.
  And they've little to start with and times are slow!
But how like us they appear to be
  In our courtship days of the long ago.

They are counting cost as we used to do,
  The youngsters eager and strong and brave.
The harum-scarums we thought we knew
  Are actually thinking of ways to save!

Now they must start in our humble way,
  For the mad extravagant years have gone,
And the pleasures and cares of our yesterday
  Are being lived over by Jane and John.

I hear them talking their little schemes.
  Some day they'll get married and I am glad
They must work and plan for their little dreams,
  For they'll know the joy which their parents had.

What the Hearst Papers Advocate No. 8 Five billion dollar Federal loan for public works and to relieve unemployment.

The President and a Job-Creating Loan

By Claude G. Bowers

THE MONDAY MORNING PAPERS contained statements from two Presidential candidates, Herbert Hoover and Governor Roosevelt. It is just as well in the case of the latter's statements to bear in mind the things he did not say. He did not propose that the money of the very rich be confiscated and distributed among the poor. He did say that, hereafter, there must be a more equitable distribution of the joint fruits of capital and labor among employers and employes.

Of course when the concentration of wealth reaches the point where 5 per cent of the people own 95 per cent of the wealth, it is rather difficult for the society under which it is brought about to justify itself to the 95 per cent of the people who have 5 per cent of the wealth. We doubt if the opponents of Roosevelt will do him any serious harm by describing him as unfriendly to the further concentration of wealth.

There are fewer people in America today in favor of it than gentlemen who do not come into contact with the people suspect. As a matter of political strategy, were we managing the Roosevelt campaign we would hire a few men to abuse him because of his unfriendliness to Wall Street. There are so few today who are friendly to it.

The President Ignores the Conditions

Mr. Hoover, also a candidate for President, issues another campaign statement in which he reiterates his stand against a Federal bond issue for a great public works program to put human beings to work. He finds this unusual, almost revolutionary.

But these are unusual times, almost revolutionary times and there are moments when Mr. Hoover appreciates it. He must have proposed to loan two billions of dollars from the Federal treasury to banks, railroads and corporations because the times are unusual and almost revolutionary. The trouble with him is that he is not against resorting to unusual and unprecedented measures to help capital and reserves his opposition to such measures designed to help the unemployed and agriculture.

What has any Administration ever done that is more revolutionary than the loaning of public money to private business?

And yet it was right in adopting this unprecedented, revolutionary course because of the critical conditions. "It is a condition, not a theory, that confronts us." The failures of banks with frozen assets, the collapse of railroads and their securities, would do deadly damage to every one of us.

Our criticism of the President is that the moment the equally unusual plan to use Federal money to create work to restore the unemployed to the purchasing class is proposed, he ignores the conditions and falls back upon the theory.

60,000,000 Americans Deprived of Purchasing Power

The trouble is that the President has always thought in terms of business, of money, and not in terms of men; and just now the gravest danger to the nation looms in the natural increasing resentment of from eight to ten million breadwinners who have been denied their inalienable right to work.

The picture surely is a disturbing one—provided one is not utterly ignorant of history. These 8,000,000 jobless men represent as many as 30,000,000 men, women and children, who are in serious distress. This does not include the 30,000,000 on the farms who have been driven to bankruptcy by the stupidity of our Governmental policy of the last sixty years. Together they make 60,000,000 Americans deprived of purchasing power, and this is ruinous to the merchants and manufacturers.

We have had three Winters of this; a fourth will not be marked by such patience and order—and especially if the National Government persists in its present policy of ignoring the human equation in the crisis.

One Method Adequate for Such a Crisis

It is gratifying to find that the Democrats and Progressives in Congress are going to give battle to the President on this issue. They are going to use the credit of this nation, not only to bolster banks and railroads, but to prevent the literal starving of women and children.

There is only one way to make a drive against unemployment and that is through public works financed by a Federal bond issue. The hungry children, the desperate mothers, the breadwinners denied their inalienable right to work are sick and tired of the reiteration of Mr. Hoover's meaningless phrase that "what you and I want is to restore normal employment."

Of course we do! We want prosperity again. We want the slow starvation of children in the midst of plenty stopped. We want business to thrive again. But we are not going to get any of these things merely by wanting them. We have to do something to get them.

And there is only one method adequate for such a crisis, and Mr. Hoover is opposed to that.

Progress Is Being Made

Then let that be the issue between the President and the Congress.

There are several plans now pending in House and Senate. Senator Wagner's original bill, providing for a two-billion dollar prosperity loan will not be abandoned. Another bill, sponsored by the Democrats, is a compromise, though it is infinitely better than Mr. Hoover's proposition.

Speaker Garner has a plan, submitted in the House, on which there will be a vote, which also provides a prosperity loan to be paid off by a gasoline tax.

Senator La Follette's bill is for a five-billion-dollar loan—and this sum we think preferable to the others. The latter bill will be introduced as an amendment to whatever measure is brought in.

Thus progress is being made—because one year of agitation has crystalized public sentiment for a prosperity loan. When the debate begins we would urge upon these millions in the streets to follow it carefully—for it is of vital interest to them; and carefully to note the members who align themselves with Mr. Hoover. It will not be long until they will have the opportunity to do a little voting themselves.

Granaries groaning with grain, banks bulging with money—and people hungry and starving because they are not permitted to earn bread and money in self-respecting toil.

No social system, no civilization can justify that picture.

No nation in history has ever permitted such a condition to exist long that did not go under—and we are now looking forward to the fourth Winter in which nothing adequate has been done.

No one would tolerate the idea that the Government should adopt as a permanent policy the creation of jobs for men any more than any one will tolerate the idea that the present policy of loaning vast sums from the public treasury to private businesses should be permanent.

One, as well as the other, is made necessary by the pressure of events that will not wait. The problem now calls for solutions that are extraordinary. Certainly the jobless will not wait forever; and slow starvation will not wait where children are involved.

From the moment the panic struck, the one feature of the disaster the Administration has refused seriously to grapple with is the human feature of unemployment; and yet it is coming to be the most menacing. We doubt the wisdom of a "leadership" which tells the jobless they must wait until normal conditions are restored, since with an abnormal state of unemployment, normal conditions never can be restored.
